RALPH

McGILL

Stevenson At the U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—There was the usual drama on the General Assembly floor. A roll was being called. The delegates chosen to cast the ballots moved down aisles with all deliberate speed. Some wore the flowing robes of African tribes. Others were clad in Western suits but had on their heads the carefully decorated skull caps denoting some religious or tribal affiliation.

Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador, was in close attendance sitting with his delegation members. Now and then some foreign delegate came by to speak or shake hands. They all have respect for him. He has done a tremendous physical job in calling on or having lunch or dinner with 96 of the 99 delegations. We do not presently have diplomatic relations with three—Dominican Republic, Cuba and Albania.

There is, for the time being, an improved climate. It may be temporary, but the small nations did not go all the way with the Russians in their revolt against Hammarskjold, and when Ghana's Nkrumah arrived, he did not demand an all-Africa command in the Congo, and he toned down parts of what was, nonetheless, a rough speech.

Frustrations

Ambassador Stevenson, who most everyone still refers to as governor, is a patient man. He suffers frustrations as gracefully as the flesh and spirit will permit. Some of the petty politics cause him to worry. The treatment of his official residence is an example. He has the same apartment which has been occupied by other ambassadors, but the partisan press now speaks of it as the "luxurious" or the "glamorous" apartment occupied by Adlai Stevenson in the Waldorf Towers. This was not done when Henry Cabot Lodge was an occupant. The rent and the size of it are the same. But now that a Democrat is in it, it suddenly is made to appear as a sort of Hollywood setting of sumptuous luxury and expense.

Still there are compensations, even in this field, though some of them cause him to worry. Two New York newspapers which once knocked and ridiculed him as a man who could not make up his mind are now editorially commending him as a fighter.

His task is the more difficult because of an inheritance. The old Dulles-Eisenhower policy was to draw a hard, fast line. It demanded, in the mosaic manner, that the member nations be either for or against us. This inflexible rule permitted no face-saving and made for a vast amount of private rancor and resentment. Even in the earlier days before the Soviets had the bomb, it cost us many votes we otherwise would have had. The Soviets were more subtle. They ask and insist that the small nations either be for them or be neutral. There is a lot of possibility for false piousness in such a policy, but the effect is the same when the votes are needed.

Difficult Dilemma

Gov. Stevenson has had to deal with this difficult dilemma. It is a touchy one and not easy to criticize. Such a policy enables the weaker nations not to offend the Russians and makes it awkward for the Americans to be critical.

The Soviets do not seem to wish to destroy the United Nations, but they most certainly hope to make of it simply a debating club. When the United Nations voted to move into the Congo and several hundred Soviet technicians were ordered to move out, the Soviets saw the U.N. could be an effective barrier to its expansionist plans in Africa and elsewhere. This they could not accept, thus the determined effort to reduce the U.N. to impotency insofar as its police powers are concerned.

They will continue this with consistent, if hypocritical zeal. They are about to take over Laos and their pressure in the Congo is unrelenting, skillful and attractive in that they promise much. They could, given the opportunity, pour thousands of technicians and advisers into the Congo and soon dominate it and much of Africa.

If Gov. Stevenson is weary and sometimes discouraged when he goes back to the apartment his country provides, with a 16-to-18-hour day behind him, there is no mystery about it at all.

Thousands Cheer Their 2 Scarletts

By BILL POPE

There were two Vivien Leighs and two Olivia deHavillands in Atlanta Friday night.

One pair greeted 7,000 cheering people in front of Loew's Grand Theater. The other two, as they looked before Hollywood cameras 21 years ago, filled the movie screen for three hours and 40 minutes for 2,000 customers who paid as much as $15 to attend the second premier of "Gone With the Wind," its first showing since 1954.

CHEER CELEBRITIES

Before show time, the street crowd cheered celebrities—David O. Selznick, George Murphy, Douglas Fairbanks, and Miss Leigh and Miss De Havilland—as they arrived and officially greeted Atlanta. Klieg lights lit up the Tara-like facade of the theater.

Bursts of applause likewise greeted the screen appearance of the film's principals. By intermission, an applause meter would have declared the late Clark Gable winner.

There was also frequent applause for scenes and favorite lines, for this was plainly an audience which had fought the Civil War with Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara before.

GOOD FOR MONTH

The movie starts its regular run Saturday morning.

It should be good for at least a month, maybe more.

Contrary to tradition, the celebrities took their bows after the movie was over. The occasion was highlighted by the presentation to Atlanta of 36x30-inch oil portraits of Margaret Mitchell and Clark Gable. Commissioned by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and painted by Atlanta artistt Constantin Chatov, both portrais will hang in Loew's Grand lobby for the run of the movie.

The Mitchell portrait will then

Insurance Goes Up; Safe Drivers Gain

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey Friday approved an average rate increase of 8.4 per cent on automobile liability insurance but simultaneously approved a "safe driver" plan which underwriters say will more than offset the increase for most drivers.

The premium increase and safe-driver plan were authorized for the more than 200 members of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

Underwriters contend that the package plan will mean savings to more than 80 per cent of motorists in Georgia.

Cravey and R. M. McFarland Jr., regional director of the Insurance Information Institute, estimated that Georgians qualifying as safe drivers can save a total of about $1,743,000 annually in premium payments.

Persons with a clean record—including both accidents and certain traffic violations—over the last three years will be eligible for a 15 per cent reduction in rates. This percentage would be figured from the newly increased rates.

"The good drivers are rewarded with reduced premiums, the bad

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Navy rescue teams searched windswept Lake George Friday night for the bodies of eight crewmen, including a Georgian, who are believed to have died when their twin-engine Navy bomber plunged into the lake.

The Georgian was identified as Aviation Ordinance Man Jay Adkins, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Adkins of Rte. 1, Jefferson, Ga.

The Navy said all crewmen were missing and presumed dead. The plane, a twin-engine P2V-7 Neptune, crashed Thursday night on a simulated bomb run.

U.S. Invasion to Oust Castro Urged at Anti-Red Seminar

By CHARLES MOORE

The threat of communism—at home and overseas—was outlined in detail here Friday at a seminar for Georgians along with methods of combating it.

A Cuban called for the United States to join South American nations in an invasion of his homeland to overthrow the Castro regime, at a session of the Georgia Seminar on American Strategy.

"You cannot sit idle and ignore the threat under which you sit at this very hour, this very minute," said Alberto Gandero, a former vice president of Cuba's Banco Nacional.

He said the United States should call on the Organization of American States at their May meeting to authorize—and man—an invasion of Cuba in conjunction with the 10,000-man private army now in training in the United States and several Latin American countries.

Gandero said if the OAS wouldn't go along with the invasion, American troops should be landed in Cuba under principles of the Monroe Doctrine to remove its Communist-dominated government.

Another speaker termed a "frightening thing" testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee that "over a dozen ordained ministers of religion have been identified as members of the Communist Party."

However, Francis J. McNamara, research director for the Un-American Activities Committee, advised Georgians not to become "hysterical" about it and "still not turn our faces from it."

McNamara also told of Communist efforts to infiltrate the basic industries of the nation, the teaching and legal professions, radio, television and movies.

After addressing the seminar, McNamara was asked about the

Transfers For 5 Cents Proposed

By MARION GAINES

A five-cent charge for trolley transfers was requested Friday by the Atlanta Transit System which estimated the proposal would bring in about $400,000 per year in additional revenue.

The request was filed with the Georgia Public Service Commission by Robert Sommerville, president of the system and its wholly owned subsidiary, the Metropolitan Transit System, Inc.

The proposal would eliminate free transfers for all riders except school children and passengers who transfer "to and from feeder buses of either system from and to main lines of either system."

The petition said the nickel-per-transfer was needed because of "greatly increased costs, particu-

Halt Aid to Laos Reds, Kennedy Urges Kremlin

By RUTHERFORD POATS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has urged Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to halt Russia's airlift to rebels in Laos before it touches off an explosive East-West arms buildup in the southeast Asian kingdom, diplomatic sources said Friday.

They said the President's appeal was relayed to Khrushchev by U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson during a four-hour conference with the Soviet leader Thursday in Novosibirsk.

Thompson handed Khrushchev a brief note from Kennedy expressing general hope for a solution to some of the outstanding differences between the two countries and emphatically endorsing Thompson as his authorized negotiator on such issues.

The U. S. envoy also held a discussion with the Soviet Premier in which he dealt more specifically with Laos. He also asked Khrushchev to support U.N. efforts to bring stability to the Congo.

On Laos, Thompson was said to have cautioned the Russian leader that a continuation of the Soviet arms drops to local Communists might force the United States into a similar buildup of the pro-Western forces of Premier Boun Oum.

Diplomatic sources said the U. S. envoy also said that Kennedy was fully prepared to let a neutral commission screen U. S. arms shipments to Laos if Russia would follow suit.

The President's note, plus

West Point Dam Gets $15,000 Boost

An additional $15,000 has been provided to complete a flood-control survey looking toward construction of a multi-purpose dam on the Chattahoochee River above West Point, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said here Friday.

The funds allocation was seen as a definite boost toward the eventual building of a mammoth dam for flood control in the Chattahoochee River Valley, an area which was especially hard-hit by the recent floods in Georgia.

The survey, which has been under way for about two years and already has cost $54,000, is expected to be completed by mid-summer, a spokesman for the Corps of Engineers said here.

Representatives from West Point, Columbus, Atlanta and other points had called for stepped-up consideration of the project, declaring that the need for such a dam was graphically emphasized by the recent floods that were the worst in more than 30 years in West Point and Columbus.

The Atlanta Aldermanic Board earlier this week petitioned Congress "to set up sufficient funds for an immediate beginning of the West Point dam" and to make it "a priority project over" all water-ways projects in Georgia.

Bandits Lock Up 5, Get $12,000 at Woodstock Bank

2 Suspects Questioned Overnight

By KEELER McCARTNEY

The Bank of Woodstock Friday was robbed of $12,000 by two bandits who locked five persons in a vault and a rest room and fled in a car bearing an out-of-state license plate, police said.

Two suspects were arrested a short time later at Holly Springs, but Cherokee County Sheriff Dan Stringer said they were virtually eliminated in the robbery case. Stringer said the two would be detained overnight for questioning.

The FBI, the State Patrol and Cherokee County authorities were cooperating in the investigation.

LINED AGAINST WALL

Cherokee Deputy Sheriff C. J. Bowles said two men, one husky, and scar-faced, and the other tall and slender, entered the bank shortly before the 3 p.m. closing time.

Locking the door behind them, the pistol-brandishing bandits lined five bank employes up against the wall and then ordered them to march into a walk-in type vault, officers said.

Miss Madge Duncan, an employe, begged the two not to force her to accompany the others into the vault.

BANDITS GRANT PLEA

"Please," she was quoted, "I'm the only person here who can unlock the vault and we'll all suffocate if you put us in there."

Officers said Miss Duncan agreed to make no trouble if left outside and the bandits granted her request.

Smith Lemon Johnston Jr., president of the bank: his uncle, Joe Johnston, vice president, and Arthur Lee Poore, the cashier, were locked in the vault, officers said.

They said Miss Duncan and Mrs. Sylvia Edwards, another bank em-

President Cancels Ike's Berlin Offer

By E. W. KENWORTHY

Copyright 1961 by The New York Times Co.

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy administration declared Friday that it would be at least as firm as the Eisenhower administration in maintaining Western rights in Berlin.

"I would like to state unequivocally that the United States has no intention of reducing its garrison in West Berlin," Lincoln White, State department spokesman, said Friday. Moreover, White said, the United States is "no longer bound" by the final proposals it put forward at the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Geneva in 1959 in an effort to achieve an interim settlement of the Berlin question.

The United States has taken this position, White said, because the Soviet Union at the time rejected the concessions offered by the Western powers.

ALLIES AGREE?

White said, in response to questions, that he could not speak for Britain and France, but he assumed they took the same position.

The explicit statement of the Kennedy administration's position on Berlin came as a result of confusion arising from a remark in West Berlin two days ago by W. Averell Harriman, President Kennedy's ambassador-at-large.

Harriman told a press conference that he had come to West Berlin to convey Kennedy's assurances that the United States would do everything possible to support "this city and its people in freedom."

MAY OFFER MORE

In reply to questions later, Ambassador Harriman said that President Kennedy did not feel committed by proposals made by the Eisenhower administration and that "all discussions on Berlin will have to begin from the start."

Harriman evidently meant that the final proposals of August, 1959, would not be the initial position in new talks with the Russians. However, his statement left room for speculation that the Kennedy administration might make

305 Million Voted for Child Help

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Friday passed and sent to the Senate President Kennedy's anti-recession bill to provide up to $305 million in federal funds for an estimated 750,000 needy children of jobless workers.

The program, which would go into effect April 1 and continue for 15 months, would require the states to put up $40 for each $60 advanced by the federal government. At least 10 states have said they will turn down the aid.

LITTLE OPPOSITION

The legislation met only token opposition from several Republicans. Some feared the program might become permanent. Others said the problem could be handled by state and private agencies.

The bill was passed by voice vote amid these other economic developments:

1. The Senate agreed to restrict debate on the $394 million depressed areas bill in hopes of getting a final vote by the middle of next week. The measure faces proposed amendments to restrict the administration's program for aiding areas struggling with long-time unemployment.

COMPLETE ACTION

2. House Democatic leaders said they would try to complete action on the President's depressed areas and minimum wage bills before Congress starts an Easter recess on March 30.

3. Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg announced he will tour heavy areas of unemployment in Wisconsin and Minnesota next week. He plans to talk with city

Carrollton Fire Rages 2 Hours, Perils Fuel Tank

CARROLLTON — A fire raged for two hours in the Southland Ice Co. here Friday night and threatened to ignite 55,000 gallons of gasoline and kerosene in a neighboring storage plant.

Fire chief Grady Muse said that if ammonia in the ice plant had exploded, it could possibly have ignited the fuel in the Texaco storage plant. Texaco employes wetted down the storage tanks during the blaze.

The fire was discovered about 7:15 Friday by a truck driver. The fire was brought under control about 9:30 p.m.

UN to Debate Portugal's Angola Rule

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Security Council agreed Friday to begin debate next Tuesday on conditions in Portugal's African territory of Angola which Rusisa said is ruled by a "regime of military and police terror."

The agreement was made without a vote. The pinpointing of a new trouble spot in Africa was opposed strenuously by Portuguese Ambassador Vasco V. Garin, who contended that the United Nations had no right to concern itself with Angola, which the Lisbon government considers an integral part of its national territory.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, council president for March, declared Liberia's complaint of human rights suppression in the territory had been adopted for debate.

CHARGE POLICE TERRORISM

Liberian Ambassador George A. Padmore, who brought the issue to the council, was restrained in his argument for its inscription on the agenda.

But Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin charged that Portugal threatened the peace and security of Africa with a "regime of military and police terror" in Angola.

Garin acknowledged police action against rioting demonstrators in Aangola's capital city of Luanda but said Portuguese authorities had done their duty, to defend the city's population "against the forays of foreign-led criminals" and to "arrest the assassins of police officers and soldiers."

LISBON 'SADDENED'

Garin said Liberia's action in bringing Angola to the council's attention "saddened and surprised us, but the support lent to it by the Soviet Union did not surprise us at all."

"Everyone here knows that what is good for chaos outside the Soviet empire is good enough for the Soviet Union," he said. "If I could give the names of all victims of Soviet tyranny and atrocities, it would take such a long time that babies born today would have white hair before I had finished that list."

Zorin dismissed this as "malicious statements" and said that "if 40 states demand a discussion of Portuguese law and order in Angola, one cannot simply wave it aside, however loudly the representative of Portugal might scream about international communism."

Twenty-eight African and Asian countries backed Liberia's demand for a council debate on Angola.

While many of the same countries expressed eagerness to start a new General Assembly debate on the strife-torn Congo, which lies immediately north of Angola, there appeared no likelihood that it would begin before the middle of next week.

Mr. Diogenes! Man Finds $240,000, Gives It to FBI

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man found $240,000 cash in the street Friday—and turned it in to the FBI.

The FBI gave this account:

A Brink's, Inc., armored truck loaded a shipment of money from the United California Bank at Wilshire Boulevard and Oxford Street and headed for the Federal Reserve Bank some distance away.

"After traveling a short distance," the FBI said, "the driver noted in the rear view mirror that the back door of the truck was open.

"A citizen, Douglas William Johnson of Los Angeles, found the bag in the street near 6th Street and Western Avenue, and immediately called the FBI."

Brink's said there was no robbery attempt on thte truck but that it had no immediate information on how the door happened to open.

Gizenga Believed Ousted in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Rajeshwar Dayal, head of the United Nations Congo mission, left for New York Friday confident the Congolese soon will restore the major port of Matadi to U.N. control.

The prospect that the Congolese army will loose its stranglehold on the port through which flows the bulk of U.N. supplies came amid these other developments in the turbulent Congo:

1. Reports lacking U.N. confirmation spread that Antoine Gizenga had been unseated as head of the Communist-backed rebel regime in Stanleyville by army commander Victor Lundula or President Jean Foster Manzikala of Oriental Province.

2. While acknowledging the United Nations does not know who is wielding power in Oriental, a spokesman said ex-President Jean Miroho and 10 of his ministers from Kivu Province had been released from prison in Stanleyville. They were jailed by Gizenga when he seized Kivu in December.

3. In Malagasy Republic the roundtable conference of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu, President Moise Tshombe of independent Katanga Province, and other Congolese leaders agreed to create a supercabinet to preside over a new Congo federation. The federation, excluding Gizenga, will be made up of independent states set up on tribal lines. Katanga and the independent mining state in southern Kasai Province were reported among the first to be accepted as federation members.

On the issue of Matadi, a Congolese spokesman said terms for the U.N. return to the port will be decided by Kasavubu. A U.N. statement reported talks will be resumed on the basis of Kasavubu's decision.

Weakened Grains Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stopgap emergency feed grains program won Senate approval Friday but minus the key compliance feature urged by the Kennedy administration.

The vote was 52-26.

Passage came after hours of debate, mostly criticism of the one-year effort to curtail production of corn and other feed grains and dispose of part of the $4 billion worth already in government-held stocks.

GOES TO HOUSE

The Senate version of the first farm request of President Kennedy now goes back to the House. A Senate-House compromise must be reached and given final approval if any bill is to go to the President.

Strong Senate opposition was evidenced to the request of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for authority to sell off some of the government-held feed grain surpluses at less than support, or possibly market prices.

LAUSCHE COMMENTS

He and his backers said this broad authority was needed to induce corn, grain sorghum, barley and rye producers to cut back planting of these crops this year.

The provision was included in the bill passed by the House Thursday but omitted from the Senate version.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, called the sales proposal an effort to put "farmers in a compulsory straitjacket" to join in the cutback of acreage.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., said it amounted "to take it or leave it."

MUST CUT CROPS

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he would not accept this feature of the House bill.

Both the Senate and House bills would require farmers producing the feed grains to retire part of these croplands this year in order to qualify for higher price supports.

Secretary Freeman said he would boost corn supports from $1.05 the past year to $1.20 on the new crop with commensurate increases in the other feed grains.

The Senate bill would require farmers to idle 30 per cent of their feed grain croplands to get supports.

On half of this retired land they would get cash equal to 60 cents a bushel for recent average production. On the other half they would get from government surplus stocks, feed grain amounting to 60 per cent of recent production.

Clerics Hit U.S. Parish School Aid

By JOHN D. MORRIS

Copyright 1961 by the New York Times Co.

WASHINGTON—Spokesmen for two Protestant organizations and a Jewish group called on Congress Friday to resist demands for federal loans to parochial and other private schools.

Witnesses before a Senate labor and public welfare subcommittee argued that such loans would violate the constitutional mandate for separation of church and state.

UNITY OF GOALS

The statements were presented on behalf of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, the American Jewish Congress and Protestants and Others United for Separation of Church and State.

Another witness, representing the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, urged the senators to add an anti-segregation rider to the administration's school-aid bill.

FEDERAL GRANTS

The subcommittee is considering an administration bill authorizing $2,298,000,000 in federal grants for public elementary and secondary schools. The measure is part of President Kennedy's $5,625,000,000 program of aid to education from elementary school through college.

Roman Catholic spokesmen are pressing for an amendment to provide $350 million in long-term, low-interest loans for construction of non-profit private schools.

ENDANGER ACTION

President Kennedy and congressional sponsors of the bill have expressed fear that linking the loan proposal with the public school program would endanger enactment of the bill.

Key Democrats are trying to work out a settlement by proposing to bring a separate loan measure before the Senate and House.

Peel Didn't Plot Killings, Jury Told

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—Joseph A. Peel Jr. didn't plot the Chillingworth murders, his attorney told the court Friday. "Our defense will be that some other persons did it," he said.

Carlton Welch made this statement to Circuit Judge D. C. Smith in the absence of the jury.

Earlier, Welch attempted to bring out that there were others in on the actual killings besides Floyd A. Holzapfel and Bobby Lincoln, who have confessed.

EXPOSURE FEARED

Holzapfel and Lincoln said they took Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, from their Palm Beach oceanfront home June 15, 1955, and drowned them in the Atlantic. Peel ordered it done, they said, because Chillingworth was about to expose lottery and protection rockets run by Peel while he was a West Palm Beach city judge.

Welch asked Holzapfel if he ever made the statement that "the others on the boat" wanted to shoot Chillingworth when he managed to keep afloat after being thrown overboard with weights strapped on him.

WANTED TO SHOOT

"I have never made such a statement," Holzapfel replied. "I said Bobby Lincoln wanted to shoot him."

Holzarpfel had testified earlier that he vetoed the idea because the sound of the shot would carry far over the water, and that Lincoln hit the judge on the head with a shotgun, breaking the stock.

Still, the 59-year-old judge kept swimming. and Holzapfel wrapped the rope of a spare anchor around Chillingworth's neck and dropped it over the side, he said.

Unemployment Eases a Little

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of workers drawing unemployment benefits Saturday fell slightly during the week ended Feb. 25 for the first time in five months, the Labor department announced Friday.

The decline of 13,500 from the all-time peak reached in the previous week brought the total down to 3,408,000. It was the first reversal of the steady upward trend that began last October.

Indonesia Severs Ties To Holland

JAKARTA (UPI)—Indonesia severed its last slim diplomatic ties with The Netherlands Friday.

The nation formally severed diplomatic relations last Aug. 17 in a dispute over West Irian (West New Guinea), claimed by both nations. Since then Britain has represented Dutch interests in Indonesia and the United Arab Republic represented Indonesian interests in The Netherlands.

A curt announcement by the Indonesian foreign office Friday said the Indonesian government "does no longer desire the interests of the Dutch in Indonesia to be represented by the British government."

ARMS DEAL CITED

"Similarly, the Indonesian government has informed the government of the United Arab Republic not to represent Indonesia's interests in The Netherlands any longer."

(British diplomatic sources in London believed two major developments may have prompted the sudden sharpening of tension—possible Commonwealth discussions on West New Guinea and a new arms deal between Indonesia and the Soviet Union by which Indonesia will get submarines and fighter and bomber planes.)

REFUSES COMMENT

Genis Harsono, a foreign office spokesman, refused any comment on the Indonesian motives for the unprecedented diplomatic step.

"This is all we can release today," he told reporters. But other officials indicated Indonesian nationals in Holland would have to go to West Germany or Belgium for assistance if they need it.

(In the Hague, the Dutch cabinet met to discuss its last, indirect diplomatic link with Holland which affects 12,000 Indonesians of Dutch descent living in Indonesia. They have been supported by the Dutch government and have received pensions through the British Embassy.)

U.S. Hero of Rebels Waits Cuba Verdict

By MARTIN P. HOUSEMAN

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba ended its treason trial of American William A. Morgan Friday. Two of his 12 Cuban codefendants demanded that they be executed with him if the one-time Cuban national hero is condemned to death.

Morgan, 34, of Toledo, Ohio, is a former U.S. Army paratrooper who helped Fidel Castro rise to power. His trial ended shortly after noon. There was no indication when his fate would be announced.

A few hours earlier in the Cabana Fortress prison where Morgan was tried, Anastasio Rojas Eireo, 26, was executed as a counter-revolutionary. He was the eighth victim of a firing squad this week and 20th to be shot as an enemy of Castro since the start of the year.

Twelve Cubans were accused with Morgan of anti-government acts in the brief trial which started Thursday night.

In his final statement, Morgan told the court, "I stand here innocent."

Morgan said Castro's foes always had hoped he would join their ranks. "But before I would do that, I would be better off dead," he said.

The court was expected to pass sentence on Morgan in the next 24 hours. If precedent is observed, however, and if he is condemned to death, he is expected to be executed before any formal announcement of the verdict.

In addition to Morgan, the government sought the death penalty for his top aide, Maj. Jesus Carreras. It asked 30-year sentences for 11 other defendants, including Morgan's Cuban wife, Olga, who was tried in absentia.

"They can shoot me only once," Morgan told a reporter, explaining his calm throughout the trial proceedings. Once a hero of the Castro revolution — he almost single-handedly foiled an anti-Castro plot by Dominican invasion forces in 1959—he looked relaxed.

Husband in Mexico, Wife Says --- But He Turns Up Slain in Carport

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A 53-year-old civil service employe who told friends her husband had "gone to Mexico" 17 months ago was charged Friday with murder after his skeleton was found in a cardboard box in her home.

Police said Mrs. Esther Delaney, collapsing in hysterics after learning her bizarre secret had been uncovered almost accidentally, admitted shooting Thomas Joseph Delaney, 57, in October of 1959 during an argument in which he threatened to kill himself.

The slightly built woman wrapped the heavy body in a blanket, stuffed it in the box and placed it in the Florida room of her home in Merrit Island, south of here, Brevard County Sheriff Jimmy Dunn said.

When she moved to Indialantic, Fla., in July of last year, Dunn added, she took the box with her and hid it in a carport.

Unidentified friends who visited her home Thursday discovered the remains after detecting a "musty ordor" in the garage area, police said.

Mrs. Delaney was at work at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., at the time. She was arrested on her return and taken to Melbourne, Fla., for questioning. After her confession, she was taken to the county jail at Titusville and held on an open charge of murder.

Sheriff's officers said the woman first stuck to her original story explaining the disappearance of her husband—that he had "gone to Mexico in 1959."

After admitting the body was that of her husband, police added, she first claimed he had "hired a friend to kill him and that she didn't know what to do at the time." Later, she made a written confession to the slaying.

Mrs. Delaney described her husband as a "large man known for drinking and a violent personality." She said that on the day of his death he threw a hammer at her after asking whether she had "gotten him a bottle" while she was at a hairdresser's.

She said her husband laid a 38-caliber revolver on a table and told her to shoot him or he would kill himself. She told questioners she picked up the weapon, it discharged and sent a single bullet through his head.

"It didn't seem I had hardly touched it when it went off," she said.

Police said Mrs. Lelaney told them that after the shooting she "went north for a couple of months." Both she and her husband, married since 1944, were natives of New York City. On her return, she said, she lived "another couple of months with friends," then decided to move.

Dunn said Mrs. Delaney received a divorce from her husband about three months ago in Titusville, on a charge of desertion.

Diner Integration Certain, Says Negro

A rally of about 2,000 Negroes was told Friday night that desegregation of lunch counters in major Atlanta stores "will take place no later than next fall regardless of what occurs in connection with public school desegregation."

The Rev. Samuel Williams said "certain misunderstandings" had resulted from "misinterpretations" of the agreement released by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and the Negro Student-Adult Liaison Committee on settling the sit-in and boycott demonstrations.

One "misinterpretation," he said, was the lunch counter desegregation in major department, variety and drug stores was tied in with integration of Atlanta's public schools next fall.

He said it was agreed lunch counters would desegregate "some time between now and September" and that Negro leaders had got the impression that "some counters would be opened now on an integrated basis.

(The Atlanta C of C earlier this week had issued a "clarifying statement" on the agreement saying lunchrooms would reopen on a segregated basis "pending a final decision on the Atlanta school issue . . .")

The rally which overflowed Warren Methodist Church was a move by adult Negro leaders to carry out their intention as stated in the original sit-in truce pact to make "every effort . . . to eliminate all boycotts, reprisals, picketing and sit-ins and to bring back a condition of complete normalcy as soon as possible."

CALLED NECESSARY

Williams and Negro attorney A. T. Walden defended the sit-in agreement as a necessary "compromise" and declared that "no other city has made such a sweeping desegregation agreement in advance. . . ."

They said that among the objectives of Negro negotiators—and one which apparently was not attained—was "the dismissal of all cases from last March to the present" involving Negro students' sit-ins at Atlanta lunch counters.

(Judge Charles G. Bruce of Fulton Criminal Court granted continuations until April 25 for 26 Negro students who were scheduled to be tried next Tuesday on charges of violating Georgia anti-trespass laws.)

Without compromise, Walden said, there was "no assurance we would have had desegregation as soon as this fall."

But the huge audience gave its loudest applause to a Negro pastor who took the floor to say he doesn't see "how any self-respecting Negro can go downtown and shop."

AGREEMENT ATTACKED

The Rev. J. A. Wilborn, pastor of Union Baptist Church, said he spoke "as an individual" in declaring that Negroes should tell Atlanta merchants: "Whether it be six months from now or six years, when you desegregate we'll be back."

The tumult and the shouting of the huge throng in expressing discontent with the agreement subsided only after the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. called on the Negro community to "calm down" and unite behind its leaders on the negotiating committee.

Kennedy Acts Before Khrushchev

The Kennedy administration is taking a firmer position on Berlin. And the new positioning of American policy indicates the President anticipates new Soviet pressure there, as Premier Khrushchev has threatened, in the spring.

On Thursday and Friday a series of statements by Mr. Kennedy, Ambassador Harriman and Secretary of State Rusk untied the American hand from past offers of concessions. This served notice that Russia must start from scratch if she wants to bargain now.

No longer does our offer stand to put a ceiling on troops in Berlin or to consider reducing the garrison there. No longer do we offer to arm these troops with conventional weapons only, or to restrain propaganda and espionage any further.

These offers, rejected by Russia in 1959, are now withdrawn. And the meaning is unmistakeable: the United States government intends to stand in Berlin. If Mr. Khrushchev thought the new administration might soften there, he now has proof to the contrary.

Berlin remains the principal flashpoint in the struggle between East and West. The Soviets may be expected to start playing with matches there shortly. The Kennedy policy has properly removed all questions from Soviet mind as to what our reaction will be. And this is the best way to forestall trouble with the Kremlin—to act before Khrushchev does, and in such a way that he cannot misjudge American intentions.

The Attorney General Takes a Constitutional

Attorney General Robert Kennedy walked 40 blocks through the New York slums to interview juvenile delinquents and all he got was exercise.

While it is an excellent idea for Cabinet members to see and get the feel of areas they must deal with, Mr. Kennedy's search for information on the sidewalk could hardly have been expected to yield serious results.

There aren't many bad kids, and the orderly processes of planning and incentives, by parents and authorities, must keep trying to cope. But there is always an element lying like sediment at the bottom of the bright pool of youth which, as Mr. Kennedy may have determined, is best described by the lyric from "West Side Story:"

"It ain't just a question of misunderstood.

Deep down inside him he's no good."

When he asked some of the gang leaders why six boys will gang up on one boy, he was enlightened as follows: they "just like to get into it."

Kennedy Housing Plan Aims at Critical Areas

President Kennedy's proposals to revitalize the nation's housing program are neither revolutionary nor exhorbitant. They merely would put life into old programs which have grown stagnant or which were never fully activated.

Certainly they are aimed at the areas of most critical need—low cost housing, low-rent apartments and better housing for low-income elderly people. The emphasis on slum eradication and revelopment, including establishment of a Cabinet-level Department of Housing and Urban Affairs to oversee the program, is certainly in line with the long-range national goals of economic growth.

Here in Atlanta and in most other large cities, there is a critical shortage of decent housing for low and middle income families. Those who cannot qualify for low-rent public housing projects find themselves relegated to the slums. The Kennedy program would encourage and help communities overcome this gap.

The proposals probably will be approved by Congress with a few changes. It behooves Atlanta and Fulton County leadership to begin making plans now to take full advantage of whatever new opportunities are offered.

Insurance Plan Sound; Rates Bear Watching

The insurance rate plan approved yesterday by Insurance Commissioner Cravey has much in its favor. Certainly the point system which rewards the safe driver while penalizing those with bad records is a fair approach.

As the plan is interpreted, about 80 per cent of Georgia motorists would get rate decreases. The poor risks who are responsible for most insurance claims would pay more. This should serve a double purpose in relieving those who practice safety and encourage those who do not. It places a dollar value on safe driving.

The plan basically is the same that has been put into effect by 34 states.

Like Mr. Cravey, we have reservations about some aspects of the plan. We're aware that companies writing automobile insurance in the state have indeed been losing money on this operation. But the average increase of 8.4 per cent in rates is a steep adjustment.

If the plan works successfully and does reduce the number and amount of claims, we trust Commissioner Cravey will see to it that all rates are reduced accordingly. Meanwhile, the idea of encouraging safety through insurance rates is a good one.

Hemispheric Fair Here Is a Splendid Project

Individuals and groups interested in seeing some sort of an international fair in Atlanta in this decade are beginning to explore the possibility of a Western Hemisphere exposition.

There are several things in favor of such an approach. First of all there is the fact that a fair on a larger scale would be almost impossible. Two world's fairs are already scheduled for the United States in the immediate future; African and Asian nations would not attend an exposition in Atlanta.

But a hemispheric fair would be another matter. It would be on a smaller scale (and thus, presumably, could win the approval of the Bureau of International Expositions—an important factor). It would emphasize the growing awareness of the ties between the United States and Latin America in general and between the Southeast and Latin America in particular. It would be a spectacular way to emphasize Atlanta's bid for recognition as a major convention city.

By 1965 (the present tentative target date for the fair) Atlanta will probably have the hotel and motel facilities necessary for such an attraction. By then, too, urban renewal will have reached a stage of development where the people of the metropolitan area and the governments will be willing to work in conjunction for the kinds of permanent buildings needed for an exposition.

All in all a hemispheric fair in Atlanta in the middle or late 1960s sounds like a splendid and workable idea.

Close-up

Will Georgia Meet Industrial Challenge?

Georgia mayors and councilmen hashed over their problem and received a lot of expert advice at a study conference in Athens early this week. Its major achievement perhaps was to reveal there is little or no coordination or planning for economic development on a statewide basis.

It revealed also an amazing lack of knowledge and understanding of community resources, ways of attracting industry and methods of combining effort toward a definite objective. The officials were told bluntly—at this first meeting of its kind—that Georgia is losing out to other states because of legislative indifference, poor organization, local lethargy and ignorance.

Constitution business editor, Jim Montgomery, recently pointed out that the state is showing an amazing indifference to the thousands of Georgians, including displaced farmers, who are being added to the work force each year.

We continue to spend millions on agricultural research and programs to increase farm efficiency. This successful effort accelerates displacement of unskilled farm workers yet it is not matched by a similar effort to train them for and to provide them industrial jobs.

This gap in Georgia's economic planning must somehow be bridged if the state is to realize its potential. Meanwhile, other states—notably North Carolina—are pioneering with bold new programs which indeed promise to leave Georgia in their wake.

North Carolina's magnificent and well-financed Research Triangle, in which Duke University, the University of North Carolina and North Carolina State College participate, is a case in point. These institutions, working with many private and public groups and organizations, are devoting their combined efforts to research into all areas of agricultural and industrial development. This research is being translated into attacks on specific problems.

North Carolina also has established 13 industrial education centers to turn out skilled workmen for jobs in industry. By the end of this year, the state says, enrollment in these schools is expected to reach 19,000. Not only does the state intend to establish its potential for development in all areas, it is training workers in and out of industry in skills needed for a highly industrialized state.

Georgia must meet this challenge of a changing economy or it most surely will lose ground steadily in the next decade.

GEORGE BOSWELL.

'Dear College: You Have Ruined Me'

The woebegone freshman is a commonplace in college. Leaving the nest to explore life frightens them all. Educators note two tendencies then occur in the youngsters during college years.

Some hesitate to venture beyond the opinions they brought from home and family. Others at some point break across into the heady world of independent thought and searching exploration; they measure by the verities they learned at home but do not limit their questioning to past answers.

The latter group is lucky. The former has a hard time. Not long ago, on the campus of a Georgia college which I won't name, though its students will recognize the incident, one well-reared student was tormented and expressed it.

He wrote an anonymous letter and posted it in a central bulletin board. "Dear .....," he wrote, naming the college, "You have ruined me."

He denounced the dormitory bull sessions with their timeless discussions of sex. He deplored the idea expressed by some classmates that a boy need not limit his attentions to the girl with whom he is going steady. His experience of college life had "desecrated love" for him and lost him his girl, he wrote. Ideas expressed at the college had even been calculated to shake his devout faith in God, he said. This obviously sheltered student had been suddenly dragged under by a riptide of released ideas.

A wise educator responded to the unknown student's indictment of the college by making a gentle talk in chapel to the whole student body. He told the young people to hold closely to the verities learned at their individual firesides. But he cautioned them not to recoil from learning on their own. He emphasized that a college contains all kinds of people, and for every person who proves offensive, there is another friend who can be chosen. "If you have believed Genesis was the first book written," he said, "it will shock you, of course, to hear it said that Amos preceded Genesis. But you must reason, not run. You are entering vast new fields of knowledge that will be strange."

Then he told how he had played the cornet as a young man. "I first learned 'Old Kentucky Home' and played it over and over," he said. But he did not stop there. Gradually he learned other tunes. "And after that, I began to learn the meaning of tone," he said. "Music in its infinite complexities kept unfolding until I was playing and understanding classics. I do not play the cornet now. But I do feel I can grasp the beauty of symphony and opera. I am very glad I did not stop learning when I learned 'Old Kentucky Home.'"

The homely talk brought fervent reaction from the students. That is why the college is a good one. A college is meant to teach truth, not to confirm preconceptions.

The anonymous student at the college never identified himself. One can trust, however, that this decent boy, traumatized as all youngsters sooner or later are by the shocks of learning, did not withdraw but found perspective in what the old cornet player said.

Catholics Raise A Perilous Issue

WASHINGTON—In their statement on federal aid to education, the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church has raised a serious issue. They have said, in effect, that if they cannot get the federal aid they want for their parochial schools, they will oppose the President's bill to provide federal aid for public schools.

At no point in this or any other statement by the National Catholic Welfare Conference does anybody question the need for federal aid to provide adequate standards for a rapidly growing population, but the fourth point of the official church statement by Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati nevertheless declares:

"In the event that a federal aid program is enacted, which excludes children in private schools, these children will be the victims of discriminatory legislation. There will be no alternative but to oppose such discrimination."

There is, however, a very clear alternative. This is to do what most people and groups do all the time in a democratic society, namely, to fight hard for what they want for themselves and then, if they don't get what they want, go along with the best possible compromise for the whole nation.

The claims of the Catholic Church cannot be lightly brushed aside, as President Kennedy originally tried to push them aside.

The main reason for federal aid in the first place was to see to it that the nation develops all the brains it has, and if this reason is valid, it surely needs Catholic brains as well as Baptist or Presbyterian brains.

Also, Catholic schools have benefited in the past from federal funds in the National Defense Education Act; federal funds have followed Catholic students to Catholic colleges; federal funds have made available scientific, foreign language and other teaching facilities to Catholic schools; and even under the present Kennedy program, federal funds would be granted to Notre Dame University, for example, to help defray the expenses of any student who won a federal scholarship and chose to attend that university.

President Kennedy, however, has proved a way to argue out all these highly controversial religious and constitutional points. He has proposed that his bill be allowed to come to a vote to deal with the general welfare and that separate legislation be introduced providing for loans to the parochial and other private schools.

The mail flooding to Capitol Hill these days is crying "discrimination" and charging "taxation without participation."

In some ways, of course, there is discrimination. There are almost as many Catholic children in the public schools as in the parochial schools, 4,447,600 at last count to 5,088,000, and obviously if all of these had to be educated in the public schools taxes would have to go up.

The decision not to participate in the public school system, however, was not the government's but the church's.

Soviets Make Dag An American Hero

UNITED NATIONS—The Soviets can brag that they have accomplished the impossible at the U.N. They have made an American hero out of a Swedish civil servant. Dag Hammarskjold, beleaguered secretary general of the menaced world organization, daily receives in his blond modern offices on the 38th floor of the U.N. building hundreds of letters from people who never heard of him until Nikita Khrushchev started crying for his head last September.

"You make us feel proud to be a member of the human race," wrote a housewife to the imperturbable bachelor, who has the thankless job of pleasing 99 nations and keeping them from each others' throats.

Around the lounges, too, Hammarskjold, who always had a limited reputation as a diplomat's diplomat, has been drawing rave notices, from people who more guardedly echo the hope of the man in the street that he will hang on and carry on.

"Superb," "noble," "fantastic" are some of the adjectives cast about in many tongues as thirsty delegates speculate about the survival, although never the endurance, of the 55-year-old scion of a Swedish family with a bred-in-the-bone tradition of public service.

He has been studiedly neutral in all of his attitude and pronouncements. At the Security Council meetings where he has to sit and listen to himself being berated as "an imperialist tool," he calmly takes notes on points of fact and when his turn comes, answers on those points and never bothers to bleat about the injustice of it all.

"He will never resign," said an admiring colleague. "He is a stubborn Swede, for one thing; for another he believes quite simply that if he goes down, the U.N will go with him."

Hammarskjold meanwhile carries on, as though everyone worked 16 hours a day.

"The thing about Dag is that he is a towering intelligence," said an Italian journalist. "He has figured it out that either this is the century of the hydrogen bomb or it is the century of Africa. If it is the hydrogen bomb he can do nothing; if it is Africa, he can and will win. I just hope it's a short session for his sake."

'Four-Fifths of the Average Congregation Composed of Hypocrites,' Georgian Says

Dallas, Ga.—The fact that people today have to cater to clergymen and make a pretense of piety in order to qualify for good jobs and promotions is a fact that is very apparent to all thinking people.

Clarence Darrow, who was described by Will Rogers as "the only freethinker the American people have allowed to live for 70 years," was aware of this and told the people about it in one of his most humorous and true statements.

"Join the YMCA," said Darrow, "the Rotary Club, the church, the Sunday school and no matter what else you do, you will be able to sell prunes successfully."

Because great pressure is exerted on people in order to force them to profess piety, about four-fifths of the average congregation is composed of hypocrites, who attend for the purpose of gaining a reputation that is sufficiently spotless to enable them to become successful "prune salesmen."

The remaining fifth is made up of aged and frightened individuals who have come to "cram for their finals" and to make sure that they hold strictly orthodox beliefs on such important Biblical narratives as Noah and his floating menagerie, Balaam and his wonderful talking ass (the origin of the ministry), Jonah using the whale for a submarine, etc.

Knows No Baptists Who Object to Bible

Atlanta — Mr. McGill states "there are many school districts in which Baptists and Seventh Day Adventist children, acting on orders from their parents, get up and leave the classroom at those periods when the Bible is read." Having been a Baptist all of my life and having known many, many other Baptists, I have never encountered nor even heard of the kind of Baptist Mr. McGill mentions, who objects to the mere reading of the Bible in the schools. If such a group exists, it is certainly not representative of the largest Protestant denomination in the South, Southern Baptists.

'Klans and Councils Using Nazi Tactics'

Editors: May I congratulate your very effective reply to Charles J. Bloch's question, "Which side do you choose?", his having implied that the choice is one between promoting or not promoting communism in America.

In the pretense (some of it, no doubt, sincere) of protecting the people from communism, the methods imposed by some of the Klans and the states' rights and citizens' councils dangerously resemble those used by the Nazis and Communists. They would stigmatize as Communists all those who defy their peculiar brand of imposed bondage. Your reply is a broadside barrage against both the Communists and the masked group.

Gold Crisis In Nevada

LAS VEGAS: Trouble, trouble! Man is born to trouble. The sign on the "unemployment" office in California reads: "Beet thinners, $18 acre." That is because the beet seed—sugar beet, that is, is in clumps and is planted that way. The sprouts come up thick and must be thinned. The migrant worker, mostly Mexicans, do the thinning.

Recently, the Mexican workers (braceros) in a California county struck because the sheriff confiscated their gamecocks. No cock fighting, no beet pulling.

GOLDEN ROOSTER: But this essay is not about puny gamecocks. This is about a golden rooster.

Dick Graves runs the Sparks Nugget. This is not at all like Jack Parks' Dahlonega Nugget, although Jack would vow his is a gamble, too.

The Graves Nugget is a casino which has replaced the Union Pacific's roundhouse as the chief industry in Sparks, Nev. Dick Graves' place has six restaurants. One of them features Nevada Fried Chicken. The name is the Golden Rooster.

The owner wished an appropriate symbol. Someone in the U.S. Mint at 'Frisco gave permission to make a golden rooster. Shreve, a fancy jeweler in 'Frisco, fashioned the bird of solid gold, 15 pounds, including feathers. Gold feathers outweigh "feather" feathers.

The bill was $35,000.

The golden rooster stood proudly on a pedestal outside the Fried Chicken Room.

Then the U.S. government decided the rooster was a promotion gimmick and not an object of art. Therefore, the bird was against the Gold Act of 1934.

Uncle Sam now has the bird, in a bank vault in Reno. Friends of Coe Swope, the assistant U.S. district attorney who made the seizure, chide him as "chicken thief."

Dick Graves has replaced the gold standard with a less treasurable replica four times as large, but not as weighty. He has the replacement rooster in prison stripes and placarded advertising "injustice." He hasn't been hurt a bit by all the fuss and feathers.

The case will be argued in federal court in Carson City in May.

On the local scene, the Golden Rooster crisis has stolen the play from JFK's problem with the outflow of the precious metal.

Price Being Paid For Secular Age

We are living in a day when very few would suggest that they know what is going on—or why. It is hard to admit that this world is run by God. This is a secular age. "Secular" means we believe in the achievements of man. We place man before God. The fact that the Bible states that God rules nations, nature and man leaves us wondering.

The fact that the Bible — from beginning to end — states that no one can live successfully in rebellion against God or in neglect of God, we have forgotten.

Yet isn't the fact that we have forgotten the very core of the trouble of our time? And hasn't this always been the core of the world's trouble?

It is true the church has been growing increasingly popular in America. But the rest of the world is growing further away from the church. And even in America, even with our church growth, there seems a minimum of commitment to discipleship. There has been a great lack of any real confidence that we are God's children in God's world.

It is easy to forget God. We are sinners at heart. We respond quickly to the belief we can handle our own problems. We see wonderful achievements of man all around us. The giant skyscrapers of our time have a way of blotting out the heavens of all time. We have so much concrete. The very sturdiness of it convinces us we have a firm foundation. Big business is so successful. Everything is marvelously organized. There is a feeling — among the common man — that given time, the scientist will solve it all. And if by chance he fails, there is always the "right" psychological adjustment.

And, most tragic of all, much of our educational system leaves God out. It doesn't deny Him. It just leaves Him out. It isn't hard to block Him out in this busy, busy world of ours.

If you can run a world as we are running ours and the result is a good world, then God is not Sovereign. The very fact that this world is in its present state is proof enough that God is Sovereign. Whenever we forget Him, the result is chaos! Is there a better word than chaos to describe the times in which we live?

The United Nations was born in great fanfare. But it left God out except in some vague way. It is a beautiful organization. But world peace cannot be brought from an organization without God. We need to remember that the United States, Russia, Belgium, and the Congo are not making history. God is making history.

We need to remember the words of Isaiah: "Behold your God!" Things may get a lot worse before they get better. And they may not get better for a long, long time. Not until men take Him seriously again.

Behind it all God is working His will. And He has only one purpose: that every knee shall bow — and every tongue shall confess Jesus Christ as Lord. That purpose knocks at your heart for acceptance.

controversial movie, "Operation Abolition." He said the criticism of the movie has been unfair and that the Communist Party is behind the move to discredit it.

DEFENDS FILM

McNamara said the movie, which attempts to show that Communists directed the student protests against a hearing of the House Un-American Activities Committee in San Francisco last year, was a fair representation of what happened.

The producers of the movie have been accused of distorting both the film and commentary on what took place in the San Francisco City Hall last May.

Frank R. Barnett, program director for the Institute for American Strategy, advocated establishment of a Freedom Academy in the United States to match Russia's Institute of Political Warfare which trains cold war warriors.

ACTUALLY AT WAR

"This nation is actually at war . . . an underground, twilight war but war," Barnett said.

And America is losing that undeclared war, he added, partly because many Americans don't know that it is going on, and partly because the Communist nations are training people in methods suitable for it.

"Amateurs almost never can beat professionals," Barnett said as he advocated passage of the Freedom Academy bill now pending in Congress.

URGES SURVIVAL BID

Barnett recommended that American citizens make national survival their No. 1 concern by:

Doing "home work" of at least 50 hours of recommended reading on the operation and goals of communism.

Educating the "10,000 opinion leaders of your state who are not here today" by recruiting and training a state speakers' bureau to discuss American strategy throughout Georgia.

800 ATTEND

"It is within the capacity of the people in this room to literally turn the state of Georgia into a civilian war college," he told the more than 800 Georgians attending the two-day session at the Biltmore Hotel.

The seminar, sponsored by the National Institute of American strategy, various state and local organizations and the U.S. Third Army, will end Saturday after talks by Maj. William E. Mayer of the Army Command and General Staff College; Vice Adm. W. G. Schindler (ret.), and V. J. Whibbs, chairman-elect of Project Alert.

Khrushchev Asked to Halt Aid in Laos

Thompson's oral statement, were clearly intended to impress on Khrushchev that the United States believes Laos involves the sharpest danger of an East-West military clash since the Korean War.

Meanwhile pro-Communist rebels launced a heavy offensive in central Laos Friday, casting a shadow over a peace plan drawn up by the government and neutralist ex-Premier Soucanna Phouma.

A Laotian military source said nine Pathet Lao rebel battalions —reported equipped with light tanks—were thrown into the attack in a pouring rain on the key road junction of Sala Phou Koun and two co ected strongholds.

Outcome of the battle was in doubt, he said. At stake were control of the vital north-south highway linking Vientiane with the royal capital of Luang Prabang, and perhaps the government's plans for a long-promised offensive.

and state officials and jobless workers as he did on his trip to five other states in mid-February.

The needy childrens' bill was the second measure on the President's list of 16 priority legislative proposals to be approved by the House. A companion measure to extend jobless benefits for the unemployed was passed last week and is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

At present, the only needy children eligible for federal-state aid are those whose fathers are dead, disabled or have deserted them. The President said this provision has caused jobless fathers to desert their families so the children can receive help.

The bill carried a provision to ban aid to any unemployed father who turns down any job offer considered reasonable by state officials. Under the regular compensation program, a worker can turn down a limited number of jobs and still collect unemployment compensation.

The Health, Education and Welfare department identified the 10 states which turned down the extra aid as Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, South Carolina, and Virginia.

Transit System Asks Fare Boost

larly higher wage costs and increased prices of articles and services . . . and owing to not having received tax relief."

The petition said, that "even with the proposed changes" the transit lines in the next year would realize "a net profit not exceeding $10,000 . . ."

A charge for transfers would be an innovation in transit operations here. All previous requests for revenue boosts have involved increases in the prices of tokens.

"This is an attempt to try and bring the total fare paid more in line with the total distance traveled," said Sommerville. "We believe that if this proposal is adopted, approximately 28 per cent of our passengers will actually use transfers."

The proposal also was prompted, he said, by the fact that "there has been substantial abuse of the free-transfer system."

Sommerville estimated the transit lines now hand out some 60,000-70,000 free transfers per day. Many of these are "being given away" by some riders to other persons who then avoid paying for their ride, he said, while many other transfers are simply thrown away "at great waste."

In recent years, Sommerville said, the practice of charging for transfers has been adopted by transit lines in Miami, Jacksonville and Birmingham.

The petition to the PSC said that "all other fares" of the transit systems here would "remain unchanged."

The PSC last August granted Atlanta Transit permission to raise bulk token rates to the present price of four tokens for 75 cents (rather than four for 70 cents) and to increase the fare for local rides on feeder buses to 15 cents (rather than 10 cents).

A. O. Randall, the PSC's executive secretary, said the commission will decide next week on a date for a hearing on Atlanta Transit's request.

ploye, were forced to enter a rest room.

The two women managed to escape after the bandits left. Miss Duncan freed the three men.

Bowles said the loss was believed to be approximately $12,000.

The bandits, both clad in green coveralls, were in the bank for approximately 20 minutes. Before leaving, officers said, they locked the two women in a rest room and the three men in the bank vault.

Approximately 20 minutes after the gunmen left, those inside the bank were able to break out and spread an alarm.

The gunmen were believed traveling in a 1955 model Buick, white bottom and green top, and bearing an Indiana license plate, officers said.

Woodstock is 26 miles north of Atlanta on Highway 5 in Cherokee County.

The robbers were believed to have driven rapidly south towards Atlanta. However, the two suspects detained for questioning were picked up at Holly Springs which is on Highway 140 northeast of Woodstock.

Motorcyclist Wins Duel With Pedestrian

LONDON (AP)—A British court has awarded a motorcyclist damages from a jaywalking pedestrian.

The pedestrian, Anthony Quinn, ran into the road in front of a motorcycle ridden by Michael Dixon and his wife.

Trying to avoid Quinn, they fell off.

The court Thursday awarded $140 damages to Quinn, who was injured in the accident.

But it also ordered him to pay damages and costs totaling $1,288 to Dixon and his wife on a weekly basis.

Safe Drivers Get Break As Insurance Goes Up

drivers are penalized with higher premiums," McFarland explained.

McFarland said the discounted rates for safe drivers "will be 15 per cent which will more than offset the increased rates."

Cravey said he approved the plan with reservations and will rescind his order if the statistical information furnished by the underwriters is not borne out by actual practice.

Rates for an estimated 20 per cent of Georgia's drivers—those with blemishes on their records any time during the last three years—will increase.

Underwriters estimated that 17 drivers out of 100 will have to pay the new basic rate, plus a 5 per cent penalty; 3 out of 100, a 50 per cent penalty, 4 out of 1,000 a 100 per cent penalty and 1 out of 1,000 a 150 per cent premium, depending on just how bad their driving is.

Cravey said he believes the plan will encourage more careful driving by motorists who want to protect their safe driving rating or earn one.

No existing policies are affected by Cravey's order.

Here is how the safe driver will fare under the new plan, using a popular family auto liability policy as an example:

Owner's Residence	Annual Premium Under Old Rate	Annual Premium Under New Rate (Basic)	Annual Premium Available to Safe Drivers
Atlanta	$52.00	$60.00	$51.20
Clayton Co.	45.60	52.60	44.80

There is still talk, although Selznick himself is silent on the subject, that there may be a third world premiere of GWTW before the Civil War centennial comes to an end in 1965.

If there is a third, it also will be a Selznick production, a musical version of the book.

Poet-humorist Ogden Nash was here Friday to find out all he could about Atlanta. He and composer Leroy Anderson are supposed to turn "Gone With the Wind" into a musical.

"David Selznick hasn't decided whether he's going through with the project as yet," Nash said Friday, "but I hope he does—I am longing for a chance to repeat my one success in this field."

Nash said his one success was as lyricist for "A Touch of Venus."

concessions beyond those of President Eisenhower.

At a news conference Thursday Secretary of State Dean Rusk endeavored to clear up any doubts. He said that "we expect to sustain our own position in that city" and that on several points, "we shall find ourselves in approximately the same position as we were before."

But Rusk then tempted speculation himself by saying that "in certain other problems we may have some addition or changes to suggest, or some fresh approaches."

"We start from where we are and go on from here," the secretary added.

It was this passage that prompted Friday's classifications on troop strength and the intention of starting new talks from scratch.

The Western powers have about 11,000 troops in West Berlin, approximately the numbers there at the time of the 1959 Geneva talks. There are about 6,000 U.S. troops in the city.

PICKRICK SAYS

LESTER MADDOX

Now that the Chamber of Commerce has turned out to be the "papa" of all the race-mixers, I take this opportunity to request that my firm be removed immediately from its membership list.

BEING AS

the chain department, variety and drug stores have surrendered to the race mixers, by pledging integration of eating facilities, rest rooms, etc., which probably means the replacement of many white employees with Negro employees. I guess they must prefer a white boycott to a Negro boycott. I cannot understand the failure of chamber officials, local public officials and said merchants to prosecute these lawless agitators who have brought economic harm to our city. They are acting exactly as advocated by the Communists. I am shocked that the management of a large chain, who promised me, "come what may, we will not integrate our eating facilities, now, nor in the future," has surrendered to the race mixers.

I AM GLAD

that the legislature passed the bill which helps keep voters registered, by changing the purging of voters from two years to three years. This was a much needed bill and members responsible for its passage are to be commended.

I AM DISAPPOINTED

that a sufficient number of legislators were not present to pass the resolution to establish the "Georgia Commission on State Sovereignty and Independence." Such a commission could investigate subversive and communistic infiltration into government and public education. I want you friends of freedom to get your state legislators in line for passing such a bill in 1962. Fact is, I can't see why any patriot would be against a bill the purpose of which would be to help preserve freedom and liberty.

FREE DINNERS

tonight. Bring this section of our ad to the Pickrick (tonight only) and one child in each family will be given a child's dinner (60c) FREE.

WHAT THIS COUNTRY

needs is not a good 5c cigar, but every city with the lawless race-mixers creating economic and racial strife should have a Tallahassee mayor, who has the courage to arrest and prosecute those who disturb the peace and incite to riot. What happens in our city is that public officials encourage such law-breaking, rather than oppose it. And Atlanta needs and must have at least one candidate for the office of mayor who can serve all the citizens—not just the race-mixers.

ATLANTA CHURCHES

Missions, Meetings Hold Spotlight

Some 45 Presbyterian missionaries are back at work in the Congo. Mission hospitals are open again and mission schools are back in operation staffed by Africans.

This is part of the message that two Congo missionary couples will bring to the sixth annual School of World Missions, March 12-15, Sunday through Wednesday, at the Decatur Presbyterian Church.

Dr. and Mrs. John Knox Miller and the Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Vass Jr., on furlough from mission work in Luluabourg, Kasai Province, Congo, will be joined by missionaries on furlough from the Orient and Latin America.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shaver, Brazil; the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Bassett, Mexico; Miss Louise Miller, Korea; Dr. James N. Montgomery, Taiwan, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brady Jr. and the Rev. and Mrs. William P. Boyle, Japan.

Sessions will open morning worship service at 8:45 a.m., Sunday, and continue morning, afternoon and evening through Wednesday night.

Howard E. Butt, a lay church leader from Corpus Christi, Tex., will appear as guest leader throughout the event. He will open the meeting and speak at every evening session at 7:30 p.m.

Missionary candidates now studying at Columbia Seminary to lead sessions are: Dr. and Mrs. Dick H. Nieusma Jr., Mrs. Donald M. Munson, Winton Enloe and Merrill Grubbs.

Miss Edna Vass, Agnes Scott College sophomore and daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Vass, will discuss her plans to serve in the Congo.

North Decatur, Columbia, Hillside and Glen Haven Presbyterian Churches are joining Decatur Presbyterian Church in sponsoring the school.

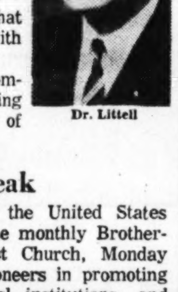

United Liberals Expand

A Capital Expansion Program is now under way at United Liberal Church, according to the Rev. Edward Cahill, pastor. Atlanta's Unitarians hope to raise some $75,000 by March 24 to finance the relocation of the church. The present facilities of both the church school and the sanctuary are insufficient to handle the growing congregation, says the Rev. Mr. Cahill. The church's new location has not yet been decided, but plans are to build a social hall first and later an auditorium.

Directing the pledge solicitation are Dr. Francis Binkley and Dan Hollums. Dr. William Cherry is General Chairman.

America's Religions

Rabbi Arthur Gilbert, national director of the Department of Interreligious Cooperation of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith; William Clancy, education director of the Church Peace Union, and Dr. Franklin Littell, professor of church history at Southern Methodist University, will discuss different religions in a 7 p.m. Monday forum at the Biltmore Hotel.

Dr. Littell

The program will be sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Forum topic is "Our American Pluralistic Society and World Leadership."

Sponsor spokesmen pointed out here that "religious plurality . . . must be reckoned with as a fact of American life," adding:

"Open and continuing discussion in a community . . . is better than malignant whispering campaigns or general and suspicious ignorance of each other's aims and ideals."

Penitentiary Chaplain To Speak

The Rev. H. Parks Tucker, chaplain at the United States Penitentiary, is to be the guest speaker at the monthly Brotherhood meeting, Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist Church, Monday night, March 13. Mr. Tucker is one of the pioneers in promoting religious activity among the interns of penal institutions, and the first federal penitentiary chaplain. In recognition of his outstanding work he was featured on the Ralph Edwards TV show, "This Is Your Life."

Revival of Faith

Dr. Thomas A. Carruth, internationally known leader of the Methodist World-Wide Prayer Life Movement and co-worker of Dr. E. Stanley Jones, will be guest preacher at Peachtree Road Methodist Church from Sunday through Friday for its Revival of Faith and Experience.

Dr. Carruth

Dr. Frank Moorhead, pastor, announced that Dr. Carruth will open this series at both the 9:30 a.m. and the 11 a.m. worship services on Sunday with the sermon, "Jesus Christ is Lord." He will speak at the Sunday 5:30 p.m. vesper hour on "Repenting of Your Best."

On Monday through Friday, he will preach at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

New English Bible Praised By Some, Criticized by Others

The new English Bible, first church-authorized translation of the Scriptures into English since 1611, is becoming an object of controversy even before publication date.

The translation was authorized in 1946 by all Protestant church bodies of the United Kingdom, the National Bible Society of Scotland and the British and Foreign Bible Society. The task took 13 years.

Author Gilbert Highet, assessing the translation in a national magazine, praises its clarity and authenticity. "Some may complain that this new translation lacks the poetry, even the magic, of the old," he says. "But the truth is that the traditional versions of the New Testament often over-elaborated the original, made it sound nobler in English than it is in Greek."

Counters William Harlan Hale, a journalist, in the same issue: ". . . What have we here: I would say we have the jargon of official hand-out writers and lower-echelon bureaucrats. It has remained for the English to give Americans a Bible in Federalese.

"And what a massive array of Englishmen, too, all with a tin ear!"

American readers will have a chance to make up their own minds when the New Testament portion of the work is published by the Oxford and Cambridge University Presses on March 14, the 350th anniversary of the King James edition.

African Leader Sees Need Of Church Beset by Trials

GROUTVILLE, South Africa (AP) — Christianity — and especially Christian missions — are having a tough time in the new Africa. But a prominent and respected African thinks there is still a great need for the church and missions if they boldly will adopt new methods.

He is Albert Luthuli, the ex-Zulu chief who is leader of the African National Congress now outlawed by South Africa's white government.

Luthuli is a handsome and mild mannered African whose efforts to gain political rights for his people in this white-ruled country have gained for him nomination abroad for the Nobel Peace Prize and here, most recently, appearances at South Africa's marathon treason trial.

NOT BITTER

Now back at his rural home he expressed no bitterness over eight years of nearly continuous banning and detention in an interview conducted by the American editor of the monthly "Our Africa."

Luthuli surveyed the turbulent African scene—the Congo where some Africans maltreated and drove out white missionary teachers; numerous newly independent

African countries where Africans lost faith and the Christian church lost face; here in South Africa, where the churches are sorely split on the white supremacy government's segregation policies and what to do about them.

"Do you feel Christianity has any answer for today's problems?" he was asked.

CHURCH MISUNDERSTOOD

"In my view the Christian church is making itself misunderstood," he replied. "First, the Christian message was brought by the white man. And the average African man says the white man is the cause of all his trouble. He doesn't discriminate between white men and see that some came here for material gain and others came with the message of God.

"Secondly, if the church appears to be indifferent to the suffering of the people, the people won't listen to the church. And if the church just simply keeps quiet, I might understand. But the other man does not."

Luthuli said the church has a very important mission in today's turbulent Africa and that it could do a job that no one else can.

NEED CHURCH

"How can anybody say we don't need Christian missions any more?" Luthuli exclaimed. "Missions inject new life into our people and teach and train us. Missions will be needed for a long time to come. But we will not accept paternalism. We want the same encouragement missionaries in the past gave us, but in a different way.

"The church must see its mission in a new Africa, and there are at least four ways in which the church is needed to help.

"First—It must train African leaders of a high quality. This has been delayed too long and the training has been of low standard.

"Second — The church must speed up its youth work. We have to capture the youth now, in the rural areas as well as the cities. Schools have not taken over the task of youth work and we might stay the tide of drifting from the church by working hard to capture the youth now.

MUST SPEAK OUT

"Third—The church must not hesitate to speak out. If the minister must suffer for speaking, he must suffer. There is seeming indifference to problems, a running shy of even meeting political leaders. The result is a schism between minister and political leader that harms them both.

"Fourth—We need the church to help us in selecting what was good in our past. It's a tragedy to say, 'Our past was good, let's go back.' For instance, nothing will justify polygamy, nothing will justify witchcraft. There were good things in the past, but some don't discriminate. It is superficial to accept all heathen customs as good. To be my own man, I must go back. Go back then, but choose that which agrees with Christian principle. And the church should aid in discriminatory selection from the past."

CAME TO SAVE

Luthuli added: "Some blame the missionary for destroying our African past. But they came to save us. They knew the danger we were in and then rushed in as if we were in a burning house. There was no time to stop and think, 'Shall I save this, or that, or that?' They stripped us of everything in order to save us. They shocked us to reality. And we needed that. But now let us build carefully. We need missions and the church to help build the new Africa.

"There is no Africa saved without Christianity. And no Europe is saved without Christianity, either. Christianity is needed. It can not be discarded by so-called progress."

Segregation Issue Can't Bar U.S. School Aid, Cook Feels

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said Friday he does not believe Congress could legally withhold federal aid to education funds from Georgia on the segregation issue "under present conditions."

Cook made the assertion in a letter to officials of the Georgia Education Association in explaining his recent stand for federal aid if it can be obtained without federal controls.

Previous federal aid bills contained provisions withholding funds to segregated states at a time when Georgia was maintaining a pattern of statutory compulsory segregation, Cook said.

But he pointed out that the recent Legislature repealed Georgia's segregation statutes and the state has desegregated the University of Georgia under court order.

Meanwhile, the attorney general said "it is very obvious" that any other Negroes who are admitted to Georgia colleges and universities can obtain privileges similar, by court action, to those granted two Negroes attending the University of Georgia.

U.S. District Judge W. A. Bootle Thursday ordered the color bar dropped on all university "facilities and opportunities."

Cook said he does not intend to appeal Judge Bootle's order of Thursday because it would be "futile" in the face of other federal court decisions on the question.

But Cook said he does intend to pursue his pending appeal of Judge Bootle's order of Jan. 6 desegregating the university.

Delay Teacher Order, Superintendents Ask

Northwest Georgia school superintendents unanimously urged the State Board of Education here Friday to delay for two years a requirement that all teachers must be teaching in their licensed fields by September.

The action came at the last of four meetings the State Department of Education has held around the state to explain to superintendents the effect of new Georgia school laws, the teacher pay raise and pending federal aid to education legislation.

Superintendents in three previous meetings have also requested the state board to delay its requirement for all teachers to be in their licensed fields by September.

Regarding the $300 teacher pay raise voted by the Legislature, the superintendents were told the raise — amounting to $25 per month — would go into effect July 1.

Sen Sanders Lauds 'Thinking' Assembly

Senate President pro tem Carl T. Sanders of Augusta Friday described the 1961 General Assembly as "a thinking man's legislature" reflecting Georgia's outlook.

Addressing the Forsyth Lions Club, Sanders said, "We have got a thinking man's state now. We know that methods and procedures and ideas which were good enough for the 1930s are not good enough for the 1960s."

He said the Legislature "acted wisely and acted bravely" to keep public schools open and under control of Georgians.

Superintendents Back School Aid

School superintendents from federally impacted areas in Georgia voted Friday to back President Kennedy's federal aid to education program if it does not cut federal funds they now receive.

Officials from more than half of the 79 Georgia school systems receiving "impacted area" funds attended a meeting at the State Department of Education Friday morning where the vote was taken.

Ford Official Finds Signals Of Car Upturn

Substantial increases in truck sales and "firming-up" of used car prices may herald an upturn in total automobile sales, Lee A. Iacocca, vice president and general manager of the Ford Motor Co., Ford division, said here Friday.

The Ford official admitted, however, that he is "not as optimistic about total 1961 sales for the industry as some manufacturers are."

Iacocca predicted that "if business picks up substantially during the remainder of this year, total industry sales will come to about 6,200,000 units for 1961.

Hearings Over, FCC Weighs Miami TV Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission Friday heard final arguments on the question of whether improper influences figured in the 1956 award of Television Channel 7 at Miami, Fla.

At the conclusion of the arguments, the commission announced a decision would be made by six of its seven members. The seventh commissioner, T. A. M. Craven, gave notice he would not participate in the case because he was in private engineering practice when the contest for the channel originated and his firm was retained by a number of bidders for TV channels.

INFLUENCE DENIED

In the arguments Sunbeam Television Corp., largely owned by Sidney D. Ansin, Miami Beach businessman, demanded that Channel 7 be awarded promptly to it on grounds that it alone among the four applicants had not been involved in the accusations of improper influence.

Denials of any attempts at such influence were entered by Biscayne Television Corp., now operating WCKT on Channel 7, East Coast Television Corp. and South Florida Television Corp.

A special hearing examiner last year found that these three companies had off-record contacts with Richard A. Mack of Miami, then a commission member, while the contest was pending for a final decision.

The examiner, Horace Stern, retired chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, recommended the grant to Biscayne be revoked and that Biscayne, East Coast and South Florida be barred from making another bid for the channel.

ALTERNATIVES CITED

James T. Brennan, speaking for FCC's general counsel, Friday urged the commission to adopt Stern's recommendations, contending that improper influence had been established.

If it adopts Stern's recommendations, the commission then could award the channel to Sunbeam or reopen the contest to new applications, including Sunbeam's.

Biscayne is headed by Niles Trammell, former president of National Broadcasting Co., with the owners of the Miami Herald and the Miami Daily News the principal stockholders. Attorneys for Biscayne said Stern had dealt mildly with other TV cases which had reviewed previously and apparently was so influenced by the commission's reversal of his findings in those cases that he proceeded to make tough findings in the Channel 7 case based on "inferences and speculation."

REFERS TO COX

Biscayne attorney Stanley S. Harris said that at no point did that company "attempt influence in this case."

He said a luncheon meeting between Trammell and Mack involved "no mention of the case," and that when Miami News president James M. Cox Jr. saw Mack in Washington, it was for the purpose of spiking a rumor that the News and Herald had effected a secret merger.

Cox testified last year he was concerned that if the rumor should be believed, his sworn statements about the ownership of Cox broadcasting stations in Atlanta, Ga., and Dayton, Ohio, might appear to be false statements.

Harris urged that the commission reaffirm the grant to Biscayne or at the very least, give it a new hearing with the other applicants.

ATTORNEYS ARGUE

Attorneys for East Coast argued that the company's Washington counsel employed Miles H. Draper, a Tampa attorney and long-time friend of Mack's, for $5,000 to generate sentiment in Florida and among congressmen against newspaper operation of Channel 7 in Miami. They described this as a proper activity and said that letters Draper wrote to Mack in behalf of the East Coast application were not authorized by the company.

Attorneys for South Florida said they sought investigative assistance from two Mack friends, former Mayor Perrine Palmer Jr. of Miami and Thurman A. Whiteside, after getting reports that "outside influences were at work" in the case.

They contended they merely sought to find out how things stood at the commission and "in self-defense did not attempt to influence Mack's vote."

State Juvenile Board Proposed by Woolfolk

Fulton Juvenile Court Judge W. W. Woolfolk asked statewide support Friday for a program that would create a special authority to handle training school and other juvenile functions.

Woolfolk and two other judges took part in a luncheon discussion of the state's crowded training school facilities and juvenile delinquency problems. The meeting was held at the Atlanta Y.M.C.A.

Juvenile Judge Henry T. Brice of Lowndes County said that children are serving one to 16 weeks in county jails in 150 Georgia counties or they are being released when they need attention because of the waiting period at the training school.

Overcrowded conditions at the school are a "serious drawback to the effectiveness" of the juvenile courts, he said.

Brice and the other judges said they intended no adverse criticism of the training school, which has a 90 per cent "turnover" annually. They said the school did a "good job" but needed enlarging.

"This group of children (delinquents) doesn't have a lobby," Judge Woolfolk said. "They are lost . . . asking for help to find a way back to good citizenship."

Woolfolk said the juvenile program would never be fully realized until an authority, similar to the Board of Regents, is established giving it state-departmental status. He said it could never flourish as a part of the Department of Welfare.

He suggested:

1. Creation of a commission with volunteer board members and an executive director.

2. Establishing as part of the program a youth code commission which would examine all legislation relating to youth.

3. Establishment of a juvenile probation system.

4. Establishment of some institution for diagnosis and care of emotionally disturbed children. (Woolfolk said there is no institution now to care for the needs of such children.)

Cordele Circuit Judge Wendell Horne asked for establishment of a home for neglected children.

Mrs. Mamie K. Taylor, chairman of the Georgia Commission on Children and Youth, said that 99 state organizations have representatives in her commission and that legislation along the lines suggested by Judge Woolfolk is now being prepared.

Suspect Held In Bike Theft From Police

A 31-year-old shoeshine boy Friday was charged with stealing bicycles—from police headquarters, of all places.

Detective Pinson Hammond said Jimmy (Shorty) Kennedy, Negro, of an Eustace Street, SE, address, was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court at 8:30 a.m. Saturday on two counts of auto larceny.

Hammond said he had recovered two bicycles which Kennedy had admitted taking from the impound lot in the driveway of police headquarters and said:

"Several others also appear to be missing but so far we haven't recovered them."

One of the recovered bicycles had been stolen from Kennedy by two youths and sold to the mother of a 12-year-old, Hammond related.

Hammond said Kennedy, employe in a Decatur Street barber shop, had easy access to the lot where bicycles impounded by police as abandoned or stolen are stored. Two bicycles believed to have been taken from the police lot were found at the barber shop where Kennedy was employed, Hammond said.

BEST BET — Our American Heritage, compressed into a half-hour for its look backward this week, felt it couldn't do justice to its ordinary formula in 30 minutes. So they are concentrating on an historical incident, rather than a full-scale profile of a famous man.

At the urging of the show's magazine collaborator, they are telling a story of a Revolutionary War spy, John Honeyman, who is little known to all but students of the Revolution. It makes a good story, although it had to be squeezed tight to fit into the time.

Hugh O'Brian plays Honeyman, with Howard St. John repeating his characterization of George Washington. O'Brian is fine, particularly in the exciting climax, although his accent wavers between Scottish and Irish.

Most of the program is full of action which will remind you of an 18th Century Western, but the final scenes lift it out of that rut and make it good drama. An extra half-hour would have helped considerably. 9:30-10 (Ch. 2).

And there's the veteran reporter, full of cynical tough talk, who has "a heart as tough as a bowl of custard." Gary Vinson as cub Chris Higbee, has his biggest role in the series so far.

Joe DiReda, playing hoodlum Pennell, wears the same pinstripe suit James Cagney wore in the 1939 movie, "The Roaring '20s."

D'Amato in Peak Form

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Champion Floyd Patterson won't fight until Monday night, but Cus D'Amato was flailing away in championship verbal style Friday afternoon at the Deauville headquarters.

Feature Sports, Inc., in particular and co-promoters Bill Fugazy and Roy Cohn in particular are D'Amato's current opponents. The champion's manager dislikes Fugazy and Cohn so intensely that, in the heat of anger, he is saying kind things about Jim Norris.

Outlar

D'Amato, of course, conducted a dedicated crusade against Norris and the IBC for many years. He said about everything there was to say about Norris.

"But I'll tell you this," D'Amato was telling one and all, "Norris sticks out like a diamond in a coal mine compared to these fellows. "He wouldn't do the things they do."

What things, for example?

"Read this," D'Amato said, unfolding a clipping which explained Cus' side of the feud. "It tells what they did."

What they did, according to D'Amato, was put the bite on D'Amato for a slice of Patterson's TV take from the second fight; fail to pay assorted bills and fumble the promotion at the current social here.

—An Expert on Ring Economics

"I would not hesitate to say that they have cost the gate $200,000 the way they've handled things down here," D'Amato said. "They moved in here with a $600,000 guarantee, later cut to $400,000, and thought they'd have a sellout. Well, it hasn't worked that way."

A man inquired if D'Amato, an economic expert, had offered assistance.

"I haven't been close to them," answered D'Amato. "I only brought two suits to Miami. If I got close to those guys I'd have to burn a suit. I've stayed away on purpose."

Someone asked if Feature Sports, Inc., would promote the next Patterson fight.

"I just got through telling you that I don't get close to those guys," said Cus. "Now, what do you think?"

For sure, Fugazy and Cohn are not soliciting advice from D'Amato. They have made it clear they consider D'Amato an unavoidable nuisance. Naturally, they deny Cus' accusations. But D'Amato manages the champion, and you have to have a champion to promote a championship fight.

Before D'Amato concluded his daily lecture on Feature Sports, Inc., someone interrupted to inquire if Cus had made arrangements to collect Patterson's share of the loot.

"You can bet on that! You can bet on that!" Cus quickly answered. "Pros have tried to push me around, so you don't think I'm going to take it from a bunch of amateurs."

—Sonny Must Raise His Social Level

While D'Amato was swinging away at Feature Sports, Inc., Patterson was discussing assorted subjects at his daily meet the press session.

When contenders are mentioned, the name of Sonny Liston usually pops into the conversation. A fellow wanted to know if Patterson considered Liston the No. 1 contender?

"No, I consider Ingemar Johansson the No. 1 contender," Patterson replied as everyone laughed. "I consider Liston No. 2.

"If I am fortunate enough to beat Ingemar Monday night, I may fight again this year. I'm not ducking Liston in the ring; I'm ducking him out of it. I consider him a very good fighter. First, he'll have to eliminate some of the people around him. I know who they are, and I would not want to get into the ring with Liston with some of those people around him."

Two of those people are John Vitale and Blinky Palermo of the Frankie Carbo klan.

If Patterson loses the crown Monday, he will not pressure Johansson for a rematch.

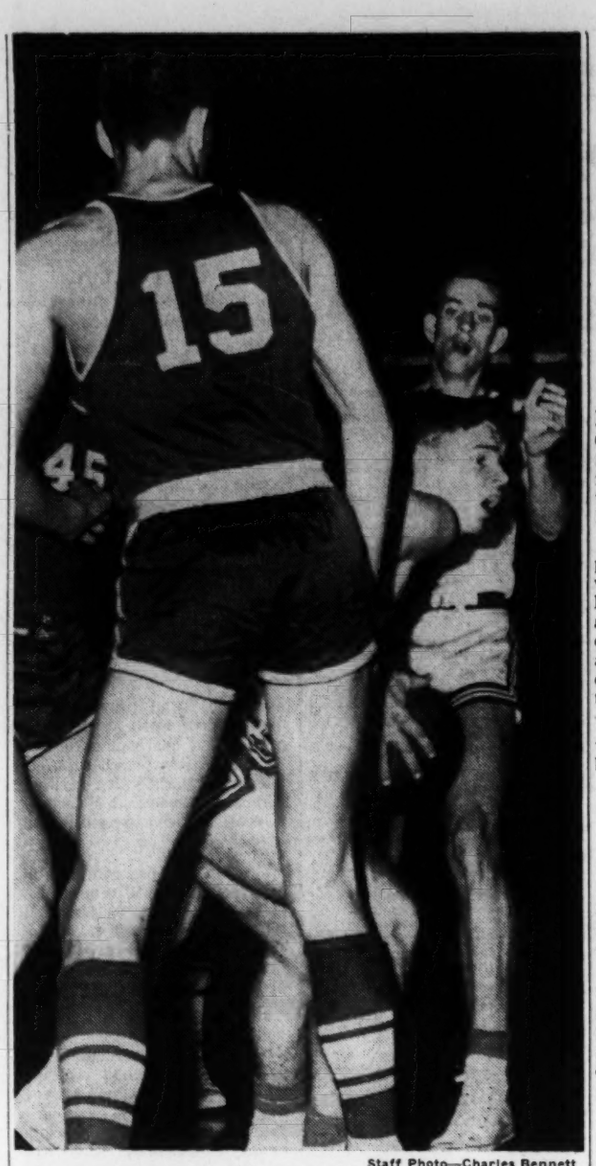

"There is no rematch clause in the contract," Patterson explained. "If I lose I'll fight some one else and work my way back up. . . . Let some other contenders have a chance. If I asked for a rematch, then Ingemar would ask for a rematch and it would go on indefinitely."

If Patterson whips Johansson, would he accept any offers from Hollywood as the Swede did after the first fight?

"No, not many fighters have talent as actors like Ingemar. They say he can sing like Ray (Robinson), dance like Ray. I was impressed by him on TV. He's good looking and I understand he went over quite big in Hollywood."

Despite attempts from newsmen to promote a knock against Johansson, Patterson remained complimentary of his rival.

Patterson will do his knocking Monday night at Convention Hall. Until then, D'Amato will handle the fighting for Championship, inc.

Clinch Flattens Telfair, 62-53

Fort Valley Makes B Finals; West Side, Ludowici Triumph

By PAUL ATKINSON

Constitution Sports Writer

MACON—Steel-nerved Clifford Alexander rifled in 32 points as Clinch County bombed defending State Class B high school champion Telfair County, 62-53, Friday night at City Auditorium.

In a night of surprises at the overflowing "House of Upsets," only Fort Valley survived a tidal wave of shockers. Fort Valley decisioned rugged Rockdale County, countering a late press with points, 68-49, and meets Clinch County at 8:30 p.m. Saturday for the title.

Saturday Pairings

CLASS B: 8:30 p.m.—Fort Valley vs Clinch County.
CLASS C: 7 p.m.—West Side vs. Ludowici.

The "upset" was on in Class C, too. Unknown West Side, zipped to a handsome first quarter edge, rolled Harlem, 63-40, and Ludowici, a district underdog, pinned tournament favorite Marion County, 54-53, on C. H. Baxter's free throw and a mammoth rebound grab by Dale Strickland.

So West Side and Ludowici collide in the 7 p.m. opener of a bargain bill.

Junior Ray Pearson and sophomore Tee Faircloth took charge for Coach Norman Faircloth's Green Wave. Pearson hit on 11 of 15 floor shots, 5 of 6 from the free throw line in a glittering 27-point night. Faircloth, directing the team superbly, scored 15 points.

Fort Valley had the upper hand all the way, 23-17, 37-29 and 52-37. Ronald Smith and Billy Toney scored 18 and 14 points for Bob Reid's Conyers' squad.

Baxter's free throw and Strickland's big jump were the keys for Ludowici. Baxter snipped a 53-53 tie with 17 seconds left, and Strickland claimed the rebound after Marion County's Ripley

Highlanders Oust Newton, March into Tifton Finals

Appling Six Faces Hart

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Headland High's Highlanders awoke the Newton County Rams from a beauiful championship dream with a rude 48-43 shove that left Georgia without a single undefeated basketball team Friday night.

A crowd of 4,500, including 3,324 payees, looked on in awe and wonderment as T. P. Jones' Highlanders scissored the all-winning string of the brilliant Covington quintet at 29 straight and earned a spot in the finals of the Saturday finals of the State Class AA tournament.

The swift Highlanders, with 22 victories in 26 starts, will match baskets for the championship at 8:30 with Tifton's Blue Devils, who clobbered Cedartown's Bulldogs, 46-37, in the other semi-final bout.

Saturday AA Finals

AT ALEXANDER COLISEUM—Girls, 7 p.m., Hart County vs. Appling County; boys, 8:30 p.m., Tifton vs. Headland.

Hart County, after smashing through to a 47-30 triumph over the Cedartown lassies, will attempt to end an 11-year domination of the girls' division by South Georgia sextets in the distaff finals at 7 o'clock.

Appling County, long a power in state basketball, will be the Hart foe and try for its first state crown since 1956. The Baxley lassies made it to the title round by whipping Calhoun's Yellow Jackettes, 38-27.

Coach Bud Smith's Tifton entry, getting 14 and 11-point productions from Bo Crum and Doug Bodenhamer and 17 rebounds from 6-2 Bill Patrick, led Cedartown from start to finish.

But the Headland victory came as hard as times were in 1932. Ronald Bradley's Rams were sharp, too. The lead changed hands on 17 occasions, and the score was knotted 7 times.

How tough was the going is shown by the fact that at no time was the lead of either team more than the five points that separated the teams at the end.

Headland eased into a 42-41 edge on a Chip Callagher field goal with 3:28 minutes remaining and stayed in front from there out on free throws by Gallagher, Fitzie Childers and Jimmy Robinson.

Wayne Johnson, Robinson and Gallagher poured through 14, 13 and 11 points over the long haul, while Bob Mitchell, Allan Rowe and Billy Shaw were hitting 13, 11 and 11 for Ronald Bradley's Rams.

OGLETHORPE SEEDED NO. 4; OPENS AGAINST PERU STATE

By TED SIMMONS

Oglethorpe goes into the NAIA basketball tournament at Kansas City Monday ranked fourth in a field of 32.

Only 1960 runnerup Westminster College, Northern Michigan and Georgetown, Ky., in that order, were ranked above the Petrels in seedings announced Friday night.

And Coach Garland Pinholster summed up his scrappy team's feelings on the matter in one short sentence: "I think this is terrific."

It was also announced that the Petrels open against Peru State of Nebraska. In no time at all, Pinholster had a scouting report and was planning drills for his final home workout.

"I guess being seeded this high kind of puts the pressure on us," he said. "But I don't mind that. Still, I sure didn't expect it. I would have been happy just to make the top 16."

So when the Petrels wing into Kansas City for the first time ever Sunday, they'll be going, as the saying has it, first class. And after Saturday's session they should be ready for foe No. 1.

"Peru State isn't much bigger than we," he said. "They have a big 6-8 boy in the pivot, and they like to work the ball around him.

"Their other front line men are 6-5 and 6-2, and the latter is a real gunner from the corner, I hear.

"Apparently their offense is a lot like St.

Palmer Grabs Stroke Lead Despite Gary Player's 64

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Arnold Palmer forged into the second-round lead of the $20,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament Friday with a 7-under-par 65.

The round, coupled with his one-over 73 Thursday, gave the defending champion 138 and a one-stroke lead over Gary Player, the transplanted South African, and Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla.

Player, who now plays out of Langhorne, Pa., had the tournament's best round so far—a flashy 8-under-par 64. His card now reads 75-64—139 for the par 36-36—72, 6-357-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

Tied at 140 were big George Bayer, South Pasadena, Calif., 70-70; Walker Inman, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., pro who led the field Thursday, 68-72; Don Fairfield, Jacksonville, Fla., and a former Pensacola winner, 72-68; and Tommy Bolt, Crystal River, Fla., 72-68.

The field was cut to the low 61 pros and 10 amateurs after Friday's round, played in perfect weather. The major casualties of the 149 cutoff point were Howie Johnson, Lemont, 150; Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif., 152; Lionel Hebert, LaFayette, La., 152; and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., 158.

The winds moderated and the scores dropped accordingly.

Player, equalling the lowest competitive score he has ever shot, toured the course in 33-31—64. He had one eagle, seven birdies and a bogey. Palmer shackled himself with a double bogey and a bogey to go with an eagle and eight birdies.

Highlight of Player's round was the eagle three on the 490-yard 14th hole. The 25-year-old pro's second shot, a No. 4 wood, rolled 12 feet past the cup and he sank it. "It's the best eagle I ever made," the South African said after the round.

Player totaled only 27 putts. His putts for birdies ranged from one to 12 feet. He missed only three greens in regulation figures. The only slipup, however, was on the 160-yard 16th, where he three-putted from 14 feet, missing a two-footer.

Palmer's eagle two was on the 314-yard 10th hole, where he holed out a 60-foot wedge shot.

Patterson 'On Style' ---Liston

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sonny Liston, heavy-fisted slugger rated by many as the most formidable threat to heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson was a surprise visitor at Ingemar's camp Friday, and picked Patterson to beat the burly Swede at Miami Beach Monday night.

He silently posed for pictures with Johansson, staring fixedly at the challenger. Ingemar gazed unperturbed. Liston and his party were barred from the press conference.

Liston reiterated that he would fight either Patterson or Johansson for nothing, a statement which Bill Fugazy, president of Feature Sports Inc., laughingly answered with: "We might take him up on that."

Liston said he thought he could out-punch either fighter at Monday's championship battle. He said he liked Patterson to win because of his style.

Major Leagues Hit Grapefruit

New Look Vogue on Diamond As All 18 Teams Start Action

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—All 18 major league teams swing into action Saturday as the 1961 exhibition baseball season presents a full schedule in Grapefruit and Cactus circuits after opening with two games Friday.

For the first time 10 teams will represent the American League. The Washington Senators have moved their franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul while Los Angeles and Washington are fielding new clubs.

There's a new look, too, in the National League. The Chicago Cubs will have eight managers on the bench. The managerial staff consists of Elvin Tappe, Harry Craft, Vedie Himsl, Rip Collins, Goldie Holt, Bobby Adams, Charlie Grimm and Verlon Walker. They succeed Lou Boudreau.

The only other new National League manager is Alvin Dark, who takes over the San Francisco Giants. This also is the first exhibition campaign for Gene Mauch, who took over the Philadelphia Phils at the start of the 1960 regular season.

The American League's most notable absentee among the managers is Casey Stengel, who was fired by the New York Yankees. His successor is Ralph Houk. Other new skippers include Joe Gordon at Kansas City and Bob Scheffing at Detroit. Bill Rigney takes the reins of the new Los Angeles entry and Mickey Vernon steps into the managerial job in Washington.

The St. Louis Cardinals had the best record among National League teams in last season's exhibition games with an 18-8 mark. The Baltimore Orioles topped the American loop with a 16-13 record.

Saturday's schedule lists Milwaukee-Philadelphia at Clearwater, Fla.; St. Louis-New York at St. Petersburg, Fla.; Cincinnati-Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla.; Pittsburgh-Baltimore at Miami; San Francisco-Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz., and Detroit-Minnesota Twins at Orlando, Fla.

Kansas City and the Chicago Cubs will divide their squads. One Kansas City group opposes the Los Angeles Dodgers at Vero Beach, Fla., while the other plays Washington at Pompano Beach, Fla. One Cubs' team meets the Los Angeles Angels at Palm Springs, Calif., and the other takes on Boston at Mesa, Ariz.

In most instances, rookies and prospects will be displaying their wares in the early exhibitions while the veterans gradually work their way into shape. However, many managers, pleased with their spring training drills, will open with seasoned performers.

Among the top-flight pitchers slated to work over the weekend are Warren Spahn of the Braves, Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, Bob Turley of the Yankees, Bill Monbouquette of the Red Sox and Robin Roberts of the Phils.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, the question-mark hurlers in the Detroit camp, both passed their first tests with flying colors Friday. They hurled three sharp innings each in a 14-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the first exhibition game of the season.

Clinch Coach Credits Alexander For Staving Off Telfair Rally

By PAUL ATKINSON
Constitution Sports Writer

MACON—Two seasons ago, Clinch County High School didn't win a game. Now the Homerville Panthers are one step away from the Class B basketball championship after pocketing a shocking 62-53 win over defending titlist Telfair County.

Clinch County's Charles Bennett was recalling the whole glorious scene in a stuffy—but joyful—City Auditorium dressing cubicle. "Clifford Alexander," said Bennett, pointing to a long, lean individual in the corner, "was the difference. He took charge for us in the last quarter when Telfair closed on us.

"Our free throws (34-of-43) won it for us, but it wasn't an accident. We've hit 25 of 27 before."

Two seasons back Clinch missed a lot—free throws and field goals.

"I'd rather," laughed Bennett, "not discuss those seasons. Then I suppose that actually they may be a reason why we've come back. The kids weren't satisfied—they've worked and it's paid off."

Bennett took over four seasons ago. The Panthers were 3-17, 0-20 and 9-11 before they broke through for a 25-2 report heading into this tournament.

"I thought we had a good team," said Bennett, who played a little junior college basketball at South Georgia and transferred to Georgia Southern. "But I wondered.

"Sure, the boys were a little nervous coming up here to play Telfair. But they did wonderfully, and that's where Alexander came in. I can't emphasize too much his leadership."

Alexander nearly didn't finish out the last half. He lost a contact lens, but an obliging fan scurried onto the floor and retrieved it for him. Alexander hit 7 of 16 from the field and 18 of 20 from the free throw line.

Unheralded West Side, in its first state tournament, got sky-high over a press clipping, according to Coach Ernest Pettyjohn. Harlem's Tom Whitfield had been quoted, "We're in now."

Instead, Harlem found itself out. And now it's West Side vs. Ludowici, a surprise 54-53 victory victor over Marion County.

The Petrels play at 6:30 on Monday. If they win they have a day's break before the second round Wednesday.

"That's another break for us," Pinholster said. "The teams who open on Tuesday and keep winning have to play straight through.

"And the seeding is a break, although maybe not as big a one as it might seem. Some of those unseeded teams have played terrific competition, so their records and point spread average are not as good as ours. But every club out there will be tough."

JIM OWENS ASKS PHILS TO TRADE HIM

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Jim Owens and the Philadelphia Phillies have had their annual spring hassle. Owens wants to be traded. The club apparently is ready to take another big bite from his pay check.

The latest wrangle between the 27-year-old right-hander and his bosses occurred Thursday midnight.

John Quinn, general manager of the Phillies, says Owens came barging into his room and demanded to be traded.

"He had been causing a disturbance in the hotel, although not in my room," said Quinn. "Proper action will be taken against him."

Proper action could be measured against last spring's loud debate when Owens quit the team for several hours in a huff over a $600 fine. The club said he had engaged in a brawl outside a Clearwater bar.

JOHNSON STARS DESPITE INJURY

HERO PLAYS 'I'VE GOT A SECRET'

By TOM STODDARD

A somewhat angry, mostly happy, and completely disconcerted T. P. Jones poked at Wayne Johnson's dripping foot. In a minute he stood up.

"I don't think it's too bad . . . " he said.

Jones was angry, just a little, because Johnson, who had injured his foot Friday afternoon, hadn't told him about it earlier; he was happy because his Headland team had reached the finals of the AA tournament by beating Newton County, 48-43; and he was disconcerted, as well he might be, by the whole mess.

Johnson, his ankle wrapped with a "ridiculous" tape, emerged as a Highlander ringleader in the first half, scoring six of Headland's seven field goals. He reinjured the ankle in the final quarter, and had to leave the game.

"It was a mistake on Wayne's part," said Jones. "He should have told me. He could have reinjured it, badly. But you've got to admire his courage."

It would be unfair to give only Johnson the hero's mantle for Headland. He retired with a game-high total of 14, but Jimmy Robinson had 13, and Chipper Gallagher got 11, most of them in the second half.

Headland won the game with an uncharacteristically steady, smooth game. Normally a fast-breaking bunch, the Highlanders held it cold and steady.

"We hadn't planned to run," said Jones, when asked about all that deliberation. "We didn't last night, and we hadn't wanted to against Newton.

"When they made a mistake, or we stole the ball, then, yes; but otherwise no.

"That running is all right during the regular season. But when you get to the tournament, you've got to slow down."

Headland won the game at the free throw line, hitting 16 of 23 chances, while inexplicably cold Newton converted just 9 of 22. This fact was a mystery to Ram coach Ronald Bradley.

"I wish they had beaten us on field goals instead of free throws," said Bradley. "I would not feel so badly then.

"It's funny. We hit about 70 per cent of our free ones during the year.

"We never got started down here. We tensed up at the end of the season, but we had stood the pressure all right up to tonight.

"We lost to a fine team. They are very quick. The pressure didn't seem to bother them too much, either."

TIFTON, a team that seems to be pretty much lacking one essential ingredient—a star—apparently has a couple of things going for it that have more than made up for it.

"We've come all the way on desire and determination," said Coach Bud Smith, after his Blue Devils had ousted Cedartown, 46-37.

"Sometime I think those are the two best things to have. We don't have any really great boys.

A FEW NOTES—One interested observer of the tournament was Oglethorpe Coach Garland Pinholster who admitted he was interested in Cedartown's fine Ray Thomas. "He's a fine ball player and a straight A student," said Pinholster, "and I think he'd fit right into our program." Pinholster also expressed interest in West Fannin's T. J. Thompson. . . . Tifton Athletic Director Kermit Perry, a Cedartown native, and a track great of some proportions at the University of Georgia before entering the coaching profession, had no mixed emotions about the Tifton-Cedartown boys game, won by Tifton, 46-37. "There was no question who I was for," said Perry. "I was for the Cedartown girls, but that's about all."

Tifton's leading scorer for the year, Bodenhamer, is the son of the Rev. W. D. Bodenhamer, lately a candidate for Governor of Georgia. . . . Hart County's win over Cedartown's girls kept North Georgia chances for the first girls state title ever alive. The North, though, has dominated the boys division, giving up titles only to Blackshear in 1955 and Jeff Davis in 1958. . . . Cedartown's cheerleaders had to do double duty, as their boys played just before the girls. Turned out all of it was in vain, since both teams lost. Cedartown Coach Miss Bernice Parker was the last woman coach in the tourney. . . . One of the biggest cheers of the night came when rabid Newton County fans glimpsed their team heading for the dressing room at halftime of the Cedartown-Hart County girls' game. . . . Difficult to imagine two more happy congregations than those from Newton and Headland. The roar when both teams came on the floor for warmups was a real ear-opener.

SIX ATLANTANS LEAD

SOUTHERN BOWL TOURNEY SET FOR BUSIEST WEEKEND

By PAUL ATKINSON

From Miami, Fla., to Beatrice, Neb., better than 100 bowling squads converge on Atlanta this weekend for the second round of the Southern Bowling Congress Tournament.

It's the big weekend of the tournament — and the busiest Chief item on the agenda, besides another assault at the leaders, is awarding of the 1963 tournament. Birmingham, Ala., and Shreveport, La., are the cities bidding highest for the tournament.

A business session Saturday at noon at the tournament headquarters, the Henry Grady Hotel, will be decisive in this.

Of course, the first week's pacesetters will cast a wary glance at the pin-busters. Six Atlantans, so far, hold prized leads—the five members of the Medlock Auto-Bowl team and bombin' Ben Downs in all-events scratch.

RALPH BRUNT
Seeks Second Title

Medlock Auto-Bowl has a 3,163 handicap report. Team members were Walt and Ora Stradley, Bob Bradberry, Earl Nance and Lee Daniell. Downs had an 1,840 all-events scratch chart, but this likely will fall.

In the singles, Bill Brannon of Birmingham, Ala., leads at 710; James Channel and Bob Bishop of Bessemer, Ala., top the doubles with 1,306; and Ernie Lowden of Savannah is best in all-events handicap at 1,998.

Southern Latex, featuring young Ralph Brunt, a Brunswick Advisory staff member, will shoot for a second Southern championship. The squad won with a 3,087 in 1956 at New Orleans, La.

And Brunt also will be seeking a second big championship. His 1,909 plucked the all-events scratch title in 1959 at Mobile, Ala. The Latex team bowls Saturday night at 11:30 at Doraville Bowl-O-Matic, returns Sunday at 5 p.m. for singles and doubles at Broadview.

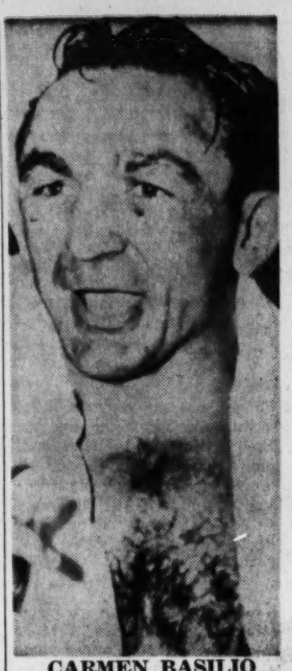

In concurrent tournaments, Southern Bowler Magazine's Express Lanes-based tourney offers handsome prizes. Ditto the Belvedere Lanes 3-of-4 singles tournament.

NOTES: Carling's Black Label makes a big pitch for the American Bowling Congress Tournament lead at Detroit ,Mich., Saturday night at 9:30. The squad, Mac McDermott, Bobby Lieungh, Hal Evans, Downs, Karl Bartholomew, and Baldy Baldassare, likely is Atlanta's strongest contender for the open division championship . . . More than 20 teams will enter a Southern Bowling Congress Tournament junior tourney at Doraville Saturday morning at 8. Winning team will be feted at the Congress' noon luncheon . . . Report is that the Southeastern Bowling Congress tournament at Mobile, Ala., will add a women's division this summer.

Cherry Fourth At Melbourne

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Don Cherry, the warbling golfer from Fort Worth, Tex., shot a one-over-par 74 Friday that gave him a tie for fourth place after the first round of the 72-hole Riverdale Park cup amateur tourney.

Cherry, a former member of the United States Walker Cup team, traveled the hilly, 6,443-yard course in 68 in a practice round Thursday but could not control his putter in Friday's official competition.. He is here on a singing tour.

CARMEN BASILIO
Warning for Jordan

IN TV BOUT

Ex-Champs Jordan, Basilio Tangle Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Two familiar faces in the fight ring, ex-champion Carmen Basilio and Don Jordan, tangle in a nationally televised 10-rounder Saturday night that could affect title shots for both.

A bad showing or serious injury could cost the favored Basilio his date with Paul Pender April 22 in Boston for the middleweight crown as recognized in New York and Massachusetts.

Basilio, 34 next month and somewhat slowed, insisted on the Jordan fight first, over the strenuous objections of Boston promoter Sam Silverman. Basilio wanted a sharpening bout under his belt.

Basilio will receive 30 per cent of the gate, expected to gross $20,000, and $7,500 from television. Jordan gets 25 per cent and $4,000 TV money. A capacity crowd of 7,500 is expected.

Handlers of the 26-year-old Jordan insist he has a "gentleman's agreement" for a rematch with Benny (Kid) Paret, who took Jordan's welterweight crown a year ago.

The slim Los Angeles Negro, who has won only two of his last eight fights, spent five weeks recently in a training camp in the mountains near San Jacinto, Calif. He looked sharp in workouts here this week.

In his last outing, on Nov. 26, Jordan dropped a decision to Ludwig Lightburn. In 66 fights dating back to 1953, Jordan has won 49 and lost 16, with one draw.

Basilio, former welterweight and middleweight champion, has a 55-15-7 record since turning professional in 1948.

COMPARED TO COTTONMOUTH, RATTLESNAKE'S GENTLE

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Constitution Outdoor Columnist

Frank Carter, one of my favorite outdoor partners, is a fellow of many and varied accomplishments, not the least of which is an almost uncanny skill with any kind of fishing rod and reel. Appropriately enough, he's a dispenser of outdoor gear for several big name manufacturers—which is a rather complicated way of saying that he's a stomp-down good tackle peddler.

Charles Elliott

When we have a chance to sit down and prop up our brogans together, Frank and I verbally cover a lot of outdoor territory, though we do devote a large percentage of our words to fishing. One of his recent experiences came out of a lake in Louisiana.

He and his boat mate were casting a weedy shoreline with top water plugs when Frank spotted a large cottonmouth moccasin swimming parallel to the shore. He cast his lure near the head of the snake and the moccasin veered its course and made for the fishing plug.

"I thought it would be quite an experience," Frank recalled, "to hook the critter on an artificial lure. So I chugged it a couple of times and let it lay."

The snake, however, appeared to have no interest in the top water plug. He passed it up and swam rapidly toward the boat. Frank became aware that his companion had put down his own casting outfit and was digging rather hurriedly into the bottom of his tackle box. He came up with one of those pistol-size .410 gauge shotguns, and not a moment too soon. The moccasin had arrived at the side of the boat, and apparently was inclined toward much closer fraternization. They shot it just as its head cleared the gunwale.

"You leave those snakes alone," his partner said, "before they try to run us off the lake."

Frank declares that during the day they killed half a dozen moccasins which tried to get into the boat with them, and before the trip was over he was digging for that .410 with as much fervor as his companion.

To me that experience was entirely credible, because I've had cottonmouths try to get into my boat on a number of occasions. I never could imagine what they were after in the boat—other than me—but I had already come to the conclusion that the cottonmouth is perhaps the most aggressive of all our poisonous snakes. Compared to him, the rattlesnake is a gentleman, and usually a burly six-foot rattler will crawl out of the way to avoid trouble. And you can handle a little coral snake as long as you don't pinch or squeeze him—though I wouldn't recommend it.

Few species of snakes will go looking for trouble, but from what I've seen and heard of the rusty old two-fanged swamper, he specializes in it. I've never been able to decide whether he thinks he can swallow a fisherman in the boat—or the boat itself—or merely wants to run any competition off the lake. In that respect I'll sort of go along with Frank and agree that we haven't got any special hankering to find out.

The Preparade

'Skelton Crew' of 1961 at Grady High Are Knights To Remember

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Sylvan, Americus and three other schools yet uncrowned in Class AA, B and C divisions will pick up the championship basketball silverware this season.

Charlie Roberts

But if we had an achievement award to hand out for hardwood play above and beyond the call of expectation in Georgia, we'd beckon to Coach W. A. Skelton and his Gray Knights to step front and center and haul it to their Grady High trophy case.

For never in a GHSA Constitution-sponsored state AAA tournament has an underdog turned in so fine a job as did the Knights in knocking off two region champions (Savannah and Warner Robins), not to mention giving a convincing 57-38 thrashing to the Columbus Imps, regular-season Region 1-AAA kings and upsetters of highly regarded Druid Hills.

In leading Grady's fourth place City League quintet to third place in the state meet, 6-6 Don Baxter, third leading scorer in the city and fifth in the state with a 19.3 average, sacked 82 points against four tournament foes—one less than tourney leader Lee DeFore of Sylvan.

That performance stamped the senior son of the Roosevelt principal as Grady's greatest cager since Richard Austin, slim basketmaker who averaged 18.8 in 1953 and then fired 54 points in two state tourney games. In a 7554 victory over Cedartown Austin hit 38 points, establishing a since-broken state meet record.

Grady hadn't been in contention for state honors since until Baxter, 6-4 junior Ted Shuey, 6-3 soph Tommy Fibelkorn, 5-8 senior Harris Hines, 5-9 senior George Chotas, 6-0 senior Larry Peek, 6-0 senior Steve Krant and 5-9 junior Myron Dwoskin turned trick this time around.

Inspired rebounding by Shuey and Fibelkorn and some remarkable floor play and shooting by the fleet Hines, especially against Columbus, were other principal ingredients of Grady's remarkable achievement. But the others had a hand in it too.

Baxter was a unanimous choice for the all-state tournament team. And had not the votes been split down the middle between Shuey and Hines, one of them would have been selected, too. Both were tremendous.

Small wonder that Skelton, a great athlete himself at Smith High and University of South Carolina, says, "I've never been so proud of a bunch of boys in my life."

THE FUNNYBONE—Office wit, after reading Coach Dub Flowers' explanation of what he considered the "turning point" in the tourney game his Edison defending champs lost to Macon County, 71-42: "Man, the turning point in that one was when the referee threw the ball up the first time."

PREP PRATTLE—Ask me if I'm in favor of a single all-class basketball tournament in Georgia and I'll give you approximately the same answer Rhett Butler gave Scarlett O'Hara in Gone With the Wind—"Frankly, I don't give a ----." But I do know that, despite propaganda rolling off typewriters of the reformer element in the Fourth Estate, a tremendous number of Georgia educators and coaches want to continue state tournaments by classes. I know this from talking to many veteran coaches from smaller schools who don't want one big tournament. Norman Faircloth, veteran Fort Valley coach, told me three years ago that he thought things were fine "just the way they are." And only this week, Cobby Rainey, Stone Mountain tutor who was at Pelham for many years, said, "I'd like a tournament of champions all right, with the class champions meeting for the over-all title. But I still believe we should have our state tournaments by classes first. The AAA and AA teams would win almost all the time the other way. It's simple—more personnel from which to pick. No matter what anyone says, we'll produce more good basketball players this way." Sure, top Kentucky and Indiana teams will usually beat top Georgia teams. But the manner in which state tournaments are played has nothing to do with it. (There are other factors. How silly can this campaign get?)

T. J. THOMPSON, 6-3 West Fannin senior who averaged 23 points a game and was a sensation in a narrow 63-60 state AA tourney loss to Headland, is one of the finest players we've seen anywhere. In a tri-state Christmas tourney at Chattanooga, Thompson was voted "player most likely to become a college star." Amen. . . . Four state AAA champs since 1955 finished third in their own region tourneys. . . . Football power Vidalia made its first state tourney appearance in history at Macon this week after posting a 19-9 record under Ralph Parsons. All four Class B Vidalia losses were to Lawrence Mountjoy's Telfair County defending kings. . . . Cedartown Coach Doc Ayers drilled his footballers briefly Thursday and everybody (at least 400 Cedartowners) rushed to Atlanta to see their boys and girls win in a state cage tourney for the first time ever—the same night, too. Ayers had ex-West Fannin Coach Charles Ernest and North Clayton Coach Max Dowis in tow. Dowis was star quarterback and team captain for Ayers (1947-49) at Lavonia. . . . Worst "coach carriers" in tourney history: The Cedartown girls. They couldn't get Betty Keaton on their shoulders, so they carried her at "half mast" the length of the Coliseum.

LONG TRAIL TO STATE TOURNEY ENDS IN TEARS FOR CEDARTOWN
Bench Shows Reaction as Hart County Sextet Gained a 47-30 Victory in AA Semifinals

Headland, Tifton Go in Finals

great early demonstration that made victory possible, although he was on the bench with a hurt foot at the end. Driving like a mad-man, the fleet 5-8 senior zipped under the basket to score Headland's first six field goals, five in the first quarter.

A lone fielder by center Jimmy Coach was the only Headland goal not fired by Johnson in the entire first half.

But with Couch and Johnson out, it was Gallahger and sub Childers who bagger the key points in the stretch victory run.

Newton's Region Four champions won the field goal battle, 17-16, but they were ice cold at the foul line, hitting on just 9 of 22 while Headland was connecting on 16 of 23 pitches.

Couch had 11 rebounds for Headland, which hit 16 of 41 field shots, 36 percent. Rowe and Mitchell dragged down 10 and 9 for the Rams, who hit 17 of 53 shots, 32 percent.

Robinson tossed in 9 of 11 charity chunks, Gallabher 5 of 7. Rowe connected only once on 9 tries from the free throw line.

Tifton's finest cage team in history looked like just that in winning its 28th game in 33 starts. Team balance and scrap were the ingredients they used to toppled the Region Three kings from Cedartown.

Ray Thomas, again was the No. 1 rebounder on the court and led Cedartown with 13 points. But the classy 6-2 center picked up four fouls by midway the second quarter and played to the end under that cramping handicap.

The Blue Devils' 31.5 shooting percent (18 for 57) wasn't anything to write home to Tifton about, but the five-for-nine and three-for-five hit by Crum and Jack Abbott was.

Johnny Rampley and James Chandler, firing from long range, netted 10 points apiece to help take up the slack for Bill Keller's Cedartowners.

Bud Stoner's Pirates from Baxley fell behind Charles Faulkner's Calhoun six early when Barbara Baldwin opened with a seven-point first quarter barrage. And at halftime Appling still hadn't caught up.

But Carolyn Yawn, leading all tourney scorers with 45 points in 2 games, kept popping them in and her eight third quarter tallies sent the Pirates winging to a 30-24 bulge. The five-foot senior blonde finished with 20 and received 13-point aid from Carolyn Deen.

Baldwin netted 15 for Calhoun and Ann Beason popped in eight.

Brenda Bartlett and Melba Yeargin loosed twin 21-point volleys to give Bill Ensley's Hart Countians their 24th triumph in 27 starts.

Ellen Cox and Bernice Packer found net with 17 and 8 counters for Betty Keaton's Cedartown sextet, which finished 20-4.

Bright, Harrison Win in Tourney

Bright Builders and Harrison Alignment scored exciting victories Friday night to reach the finals of the Hapeville Recreation Gold Medal Basketball Turnament.

Bright got a 31-point scoring performance to topple Harris Lumber Company, 104-88, and J. B. Bearden tallied 37 points as Harrison nipped Hanson Buick, 101-100.

High scorers for the losers were David Harris of Harris Lumber with 29 and Paul Cochran with 35 for Hanson Buick.

Finals are scheduled Sunday afternoon at 3:30, with a consolation game set at 2.

Clinch Co. Leads Parade of Upsets

Stamper missed two free throws with seven seconds left.

It was a game of contrasts, for Ludowici zipped to a 10-point lead in the first half. But Marion County, bringing out the big guns of Stamper, Brownie Benson, Lanier Roberts and Bobby Wooldridge, bombed to a 29-29 halftime tie and a 45-39 lead heading into the final quarter.

Strickland finally knotted it 53-53 on a layup after the three-quarter court press gobbled up Marion County's advantage. Strickland and Baxter fired home 20 and 19 points; Stamper, Roberts, Benson and Wooldridge counted 14, 12, 11 and 10 for Marion.

Alexander and Bobby James struck the decisive blows for Clinch County. When Telfair County sliced a 13-point clinch lead to five on three baskets by Bonny Strom, Alexander and James rippled the nets for three and two points. On the last Telfair charge — ripping a 14-point bulge to seven—James canned four straight points.

Lanky Alexander fired in 7 of 16 floor shots, 18 of 20 from the free throw line; James went 3-for-9, 12-for-15. In all, Clinch County converted 34-of-43 charity tosses.

Strom and Ev Copeland pounded home 19 and 17 for Telfair County.

Doug Henderson, Milton Dailey and red-headed Eddie Mitchell banked 25, 16 and 11 points for West Side. The Rockets zoomed to leads of 17-7, 32-17 and 44-24 and never were in trouble against flat Harlem. Buddy Lucky and Phillip Kelley scored 12 and 10 points for Harlem.

Prep Swim Meet Draws Big Field

The largest field in the state's history takes to Emory University pool Saturday morning for the Georgia State High School Swim Championships.

Trials start at 10 a.m., with 69 heats scheduled for the 20-event meet. Finals get underway at 3:30.

A total of 246 youngsters will compete in the championships—104 girls and 142 boys, representing boys and girls teams from 18 Georgia high schools.

Westminster's boys and Decatur's girls will defend their team championships. Their toughest competition is expected to come from GMA in the boys division, Briarcliff in the girls.

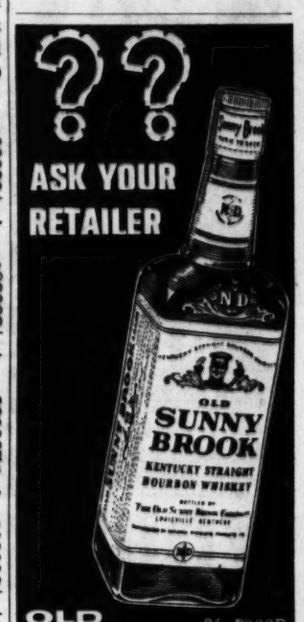

Leading the host of competitors for individual swim titles is Westminster's national record-holder Harrison Merrell.

Other outstanding boys are Buddy Weir of Athens, John Kalmbach of GMA, Sloan Creveling of Westminster, Rhodes Bradford of Avondale and Robert Willis of Waynesboro.

In the diving, defending champ Jimmy Payne of Sandy Springs has to contend with Cleve Meredith of GMA and Marist's Bryan Starr.

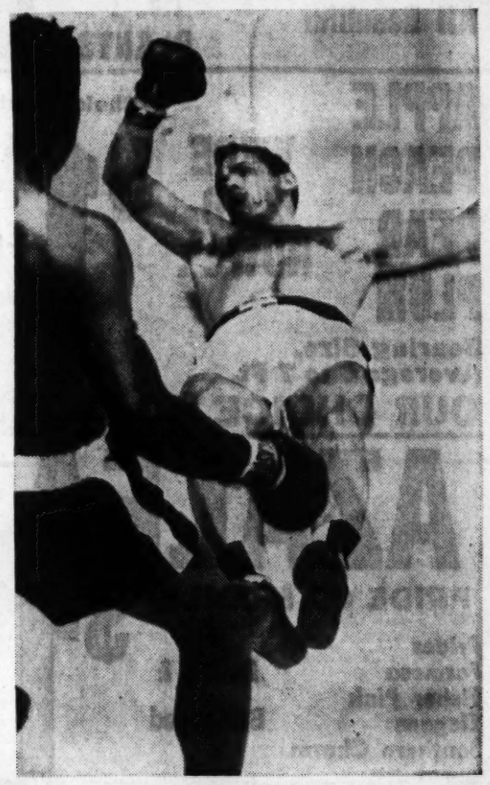

A host of outstanding girls will be on hand, including Briarcliff's Nancy Chapman, Sandy Springs' Lynn Eaton, Westminsters' Nancy Barwick and Grady's Risse Leitch.

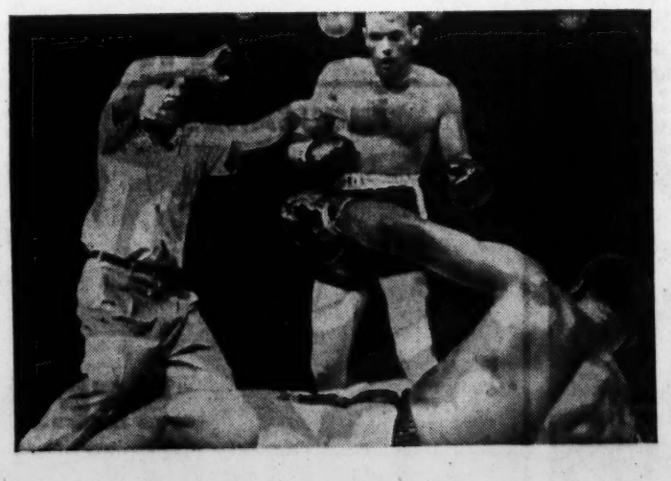

In addition to carrying the largest field ever, this year's entry list shows one of the biggest single-year jumps in the history of the meet. Last year's field had 184 entries.

DATE LINES

Jujitsu May Be In Order In Battle of Lovers' Lane

This is the sixth of 12 articles excerpted from "Datebook's Complete Guide to Dating," edited by Art Unger, discussing, in frank detail, the rules, problems, emotions and techniques of the complex institution of dating.

"How can I control my emotions? Tell me how to refuse without sounding prudish. Why do boys always think I give them the go-ahead? How can I make a boy realize I honestly don't want to park? How far should a girl go?"

These are just a few of the hundreds of questions from young people about sexual feelings and experiences. It's clear that this generation is faced with a greater need for knowledge and understanding in this area than almost any previous generation.

Why should this be true? Well, perhaps because three basic concepts have developed almost simultaneously—and they tend to be difficult for a young person to grasp completely.

First, there is the general agreement of the need for greater frankness; second, of the need for more realistic values; and third, of the simultaneous need for more intelligent regulation.

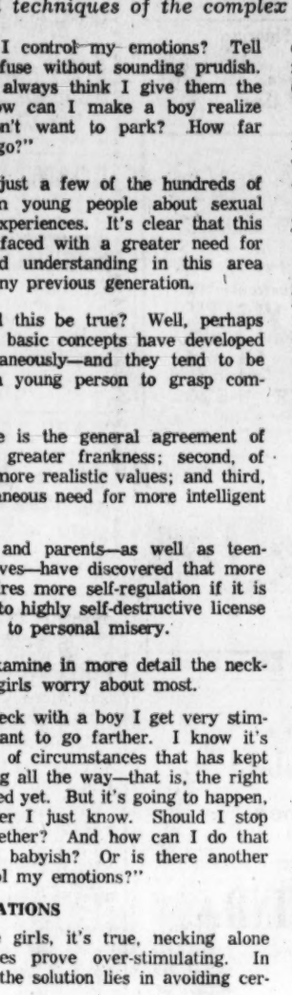

Educators and parents—as well as teenagers themselves—have discovered that more freedom requires more self-regulation if it is not to turn into highly self-destructive license—a sure road to personal misery.

So, let's examine in more detail the necking question girls worry about most.

"When I neck with a boy I get very stimulated and want to go farther. I know it's just a matter of circumstances that has kept me from going all the way—that is, the right boy hasn't tried yet. But it's going to happen, sooner or later I just know. Should I stop necking altogether? And how can I do that without being babyish? Or is there another way to control my emotions?"

AVOID SITUATIONS

With some girls, it's true, necking alone will sometimes prove over-stimulating. In such a case, the solution lies in avoiding certain kinds of situations which a girl with a passionate nature has to learn to consider "out of bounds." If this is your problem, it certainly doesn't mean that every necking situation will be outside your limits. Because, if you remove yourself from all temptation, your powers of responsible self-control would be so weakly developed that the first right boy to come along would bowl over all your defenses like tenpins.

However, it sounds like what you've been experiencing with your boy friends is more like petting than necking. When either of you consciously does anything to arouse the other sexually, that's petting. In that case, the means of control is simple. If a boy deliberately stimulates you sexually, ask him not to; if he continues don't go out with him anymore.

No girl can afford to allow circumstances to guide her behavior, especially where sex is concerned. That would be babyish. Any girl who takes the trouble to consider where she is in life—in terms of meaning and purpose as well as momentary satisfactions—will realize that she has all kinds of inner guides to the rights and wrongs of direction.

BATTLE OF LOVERS' LANE

"What does a girl do when a boy won't pay any attention to her when she says she doesn't want to park? I mean how do you fight the Battle of Lovers' Lane when the boy doesn't believe you're angry?"

It depends so much on the boy and girl involved. With some boys, a sense of humor will do the trick, but some girls can't call on their sense of humor in what they feel is an emergency. At the other extreme, a handy ju jitsu trick may be in order.

But by far the best advice we can offer is to know your date and know him well—his reputation, his background, and what his feelings really are for you—before you let yourself in for this kind of situation. This goes especially for the boys who aren't from your neighborhood and age group, for blind dates and first dates in general, for boys who have a fast or otherwise questionable reputation.

It's not that your own feeling response isn't the most important gauge of whether or not you should go out with a boy. But, alone, it is seldom enough.

NON-PRUDISH NO

Here's a question from a girl with a similar problem, but it's something a bit different that bothers her:

"I'm not a prude—but I feel that necking and petting can get me into trouble. But, whenever I go on a date, I'm called frigid and prudish and babyish if I refuse to neck. Am I wrong and if I'm not how do I make my position clear without preaching?"

The "without preaching" is the most important part of it. Preach and the boy will feel he's got the advantage. But wise up to the fact that those epithets (frigid, prudish, babyish) are calculated to put you on the defensive.

You can call a boy's bluff. Tell him you know you're not any of these things he calls you. Tell him you can see through him and you're not falling for any of his teasing. More often than not you'll have him laughing at having his deviltry exposed. More than likely, he'll be relieved, because lots of boys don't really want you to reveal the weakness they half expect. When you do, they often lose respect for you and even talk contemptuously about you with their friends.

Working out a good relationship takes two people strong enough not to surrender their values. It takes a lot more, too: A natural and sincere spontaneousness, unspoiled by calculation and affectation; a sense of humor that can make light of the inevitable frustrations and quarrels; increasing powers of judgment and mutual planning for meaningful activities; a growing capacity for mature love which says "Your needs, your feelings, your opinions are just as important to me as my own." When you achieve this level with a boy, you won't be flinging poison arrows at each other. And you won't have to worry about preaching, either.

HOW FAR SHOULD YOU GO?

"I know just about all I need to know about necking and petting and sex. So, this kind of knowledge is not my problem. But, deciding just how far I should go is a real problem. What's right and what's wrong when it comes to this sort of thing?"

When excitement is sought for excitement's sake, you may be left afterward in a state of nervous tension, with a sense of frustration and incompletion. Heavy petting can accelerate your sexual passions until you find yourself reaching "the point of no return." Going too far can be an intense emotional shock, with serious psychological consequences for a girl who is emotionally unprepared.

But there's another danger in I don't-care sexual behavior that isn't too obvious. So often, it seems either, or both partners fail to understand that the most intimate areas of one's body are kept private for a reason. They belong inseparably with that great gift of love—your special offering to the one who wins your lasting devotion.

Top Grades Come From Hard Work

Maybe you think the answer to learning is lots of studying and long hours with a book.

But the secret of good grades is how scientifically you go about doing your homework.

Whether you are an "A" scholar with one or two weak subjects or a struggling "C" student you can acquire the art of good marksmanship with a speed-up study system.

Here are some efficiency hints:

Radio: If soft music helps, keep it on. But if Cicero begins to lose to your favorite disc jockey, turn it off.

Drowsiness: Stay alert by arranging a lamp to beam on papers and books. Keep room moderately cool. Sit up straight; don't lounge in an S-curve in a soft chair.

Clutter: Expedite work in an executive fashion with desk cleared of nonessentials. Have a good supply of sharpened pencils, workable pen, paper, eraser, typewriter at hand.

Food: Set out a glass of milk, some fruit or cookies to nibble on instead of making frequent, distracting trips to the refrigerator just to break the monotony.

Time Out: Avoid mental fatigue by relaxing occasionally. Space lessons. Do some before dinner and some after. Try a bath, a brief phone call between sessions. You'll be more receptive to the next topic when you settle down to work again.

Juggle Assignments: You're not a walking encyclopedia so don't try to absorb a whole set of geometry formulas and a long list of historical facts and dates one after another. Going from active study on one subject to another tends to erase the first from your mind. Alternate by doing your English composition as a change of pace.

Scholarly Review: Allow some time each night to look over past notes and lessons. Test yourself—then recheck. Regular self-examination will root that square root more firmly in your mind. You'll eliminate pre-exam jitters and last-minute cramming. And you'll be sitting pretty while friends stay up all night frantically trying to remember things they've forgotten.

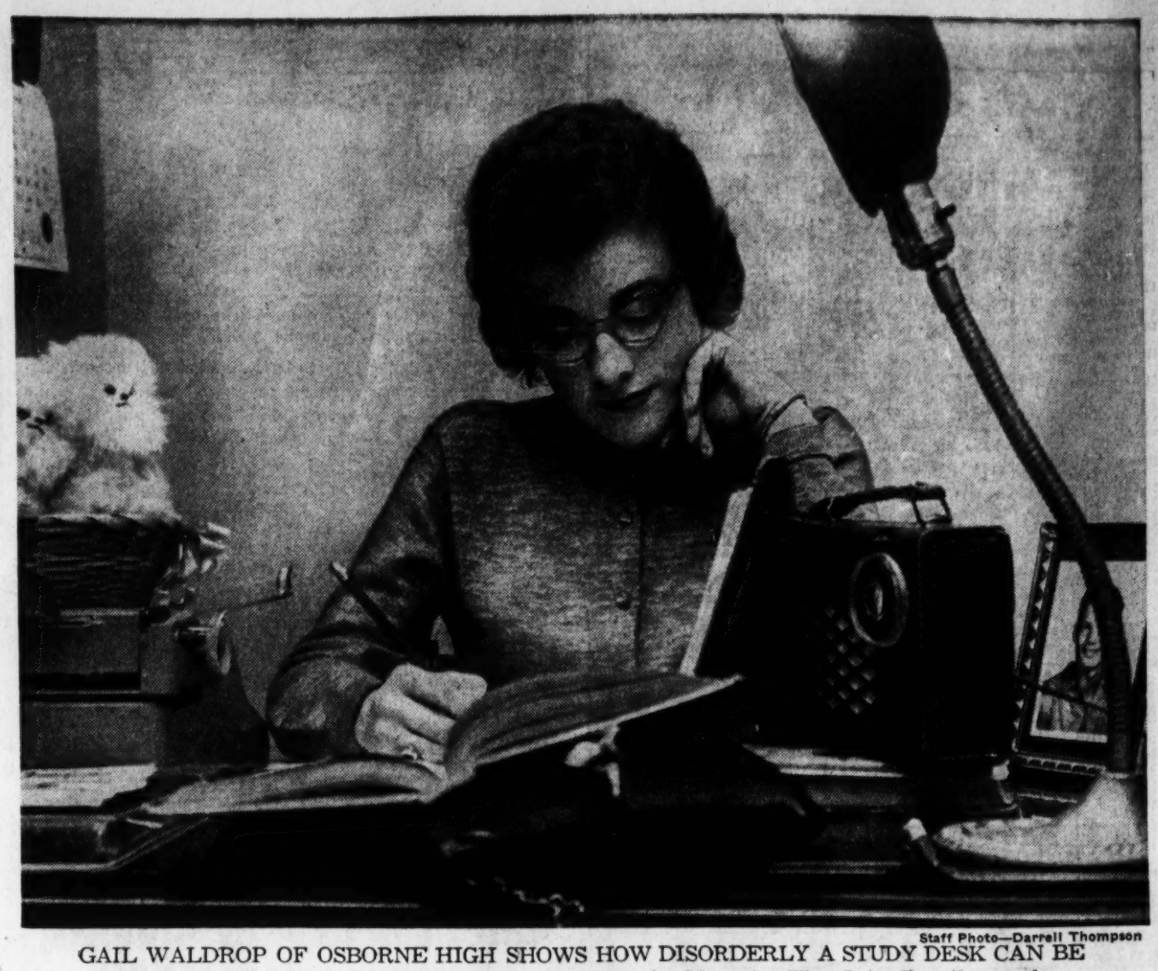

Subconscious Learning: Save memory work for last. Sleep will help you retain it.

Discard the old saying about all work making Jack or Joan a dullard. It just isn't true. For once you learn how to systematize and organize your work—whether it's homework, housework, office routing or social activities—you'll find plenty of time for play.

A Principal Finds Toothbrush Scarce

A school principal in Poland checked on his 157 pupils and found that only nine had ever used a toothbrush. Of these nine, five used one only on Sundays and holidays.

Only 67 washed their hands and faces every day and none bothered to wash their hands before meals. Of the 57 girl students who entered a teachers' college, only four owned toothbrushes, 13 had nightgowns and only two knew how to use a knife and fork.

"The best advice to car owners who consider picking up hitch-hikers is: DON'T."—Article quote.

The courteous driver likes to be . . . Kind and accommodating . . . And sometimes stops his car when he . . . Sees some hitch-hiker waiting . . . And if he offers him a lift . . . He likely will endanger . . . His life, which is too great a gift . . . To offer to a stranger.

But people do it, just the same . . . Without a way of knowing . . . The type of man, from whence he came . . . And whither he is going . . . They could be beaten, stabbed or shot . . . By one they had befriended . . . And you'll agree, "that isn't what . . . The doctor recommended."

Vandiver Tour to Sell State, Ports

Gov. Vandiver will make a four-day trip to New York and Washington March 19-23 to "sell Georgia" and her ports to the nation.

The governor will leave for New York March 19 with Robert Norman, chairman of the Georgia Ports Authority, so he can be on hand for the signing of $8.6 million worth of State Hospital Authority bonds which were recently sold.

The bonds, to be signed March 20, will finance new facilities in Atlanta, Milledgeville and Gracewood.

On March 21, at noon, Gov. Vandiver will address a luncheon meeting of shipping magnates to advise them of the facilities of Georgia's inland and sea ports.

The following day, in another noon luncheon address, he will talk to manufacturers and cotton importers and outline to them the advantages of Georgia's port facilities.

Gov. Vandiver will travel to Washington on Thursday, March 23, to visit governmental agencies in an attempt to stimulate their interest in using ports at Brunswick, Savannah, Bainbridge and Augusta for the shipment of federal goods used in the Southeast.

Prior to his trip, the governor will hold a press conference next Thursday with some 60 representatives of the press, radio and television to announce plans for his Conference on Trade and Commerce scheduled in Atlanta May 21-23.

Here's a New Acting Method!

By JEAN ROONEY

They learn "the method" but it's not the Marlon Brando method. The score-plus teenagers in the Atlanta Children's Civic Theater learn Miss Edith Russell's method. And it's custom tailored to each young thespian.

RELAXING AFTER REHEARSAL FOR THIS WEEKEND'S "ALI BABA"
Lead Ann Street, Facing Camera, and Young Atlanta Cast

"We try to draw out their own personality," the veteran dramatics teacher explains.

For the shy boys and girls (minimum age of 8) this means encouraging them to speak up before an audience.

"And we give the extroverts out-spoken ones — an outlet," Miss Russell explains.

CHARACTER ROLES

In this year's production, the ingenue actors are digging into meaty character roles from the Arabian Nights era.

They will present a new version of "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," rewritten by Miss Russell. The show goes on at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., Saturday, March 18, and 3:30 p.m., Sunday, March 19, at the Community Playhouse.

"I took out the bloody parts, when Kassim is cut up and sewn back together," Miss Russell explains, reminding us that some of the old fairy tales were pretty gruesome.

LANGUAGE UPDATED

And she updated the language in the current production, the eleventh annual one for the juvenile group.

As in the past, the play includes both music and dance by a score of young dance students of Miss Lottie Henstchel. For weeks they have studied Oriental dances, with original choreography by Miss Henstchel and advice from Miss Marian Rhyne, Eastern dance specialist.

Ann Street, a blond eighth-grader from East Atlanta High School, plays the heroine, Morgiana, a glamorous slave girl. And Ali Baba, the dashing hero, is crew-cut Osgood (Buzz) Williams II, from GMA.

The thieves' chieftain is pretty Bebe Swanson, a Westminster Schools ninth-grade student, who turns herself into a "forceful villain," Miss Russell reports.

The "other woman" is Dixie Close, an auburn-haired co-ed from Decatur High School. Her sister, Carol Close, hides her blond pony-tail to play a wheedling merchant of rare jewels.

POISED AND POLISHED

The comedians in the productions are Emily Winship and Pam Summers, poised and polished for their 11 years of age. They throw themselves into the roles of the Fakers—the Con Men in the old fairy tale.

Helping Miss Russell run the show is Mary Helen Goodloe, 15, a veteran of children's theater productions.

Rehearsals have been held almost every Saturday since Christmas in Miss Russell's studio, an old carriage house at the rear of the Community Playhouse where the production is set.

What does it mean to the young actors?

"See how seriously they take it," Miss Russell points to the boys and girls working seriously on their lines, oblivious to the summer weather outside.

As in the adult stage groups, horseplay goes with rehearsing, but strictly after Miss Russell is satisfied with their work sessions.

Atlanta Trip Is Grade Reward For George Murphy's Daughter

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Hollywood's favorite goodwill ambassador evidently believes that diplomacy begins at home.

"My Dad is quite a guy," declared Miss Malissa Murphy. "You never hear anything bad about him. Not even at home: He leaves the discipline to Mom."

Her dad is George Murphy, (who's almost as well known as Hollywood's roving ambassador of goodwill as he is for his numerous film rolls. His pert 'n' pretty 17-year-old daughter accompanied Mr. Murphy here this week for the "Gone With the Wind" anniversary premiere festivities. For Melissa, the trip was an unexpected reward for turning in a good report card.

ONE COMPLAINT

"She's been a real good student this year," George said, "so it was no trouble getting her out of school for this trip. It's time she saw some of the East Coast."

The petite teen-ager has only one complaint: "These three days in Atlanta are just going by too fast," she sighed.

Melissa easily holds her own in the how-to-win-friends department. She's a poised young woman of definite opinions, who respects her father's career—now.

"I'm beginning to appreciate his position," she said. "Dad used to take me to the studio when he was making a movie, but I really wasn't too interested then. Now, however, I think I'd like to have a career in the same field. Mom wants me to go to college, preferably in the East. If I don't I'll have to go to work. I decided getting in good with Dad might help me get a job when the time comes."

LITTLE DIPLOMAT

"She's becoming quite a little diplomat herself," George interjected with a grin. "She brought this subject up only about a week ago. I have no objections, if she properly prepares herself for whatever she wants to do. And I'll help her as much as possible."

"I'm afraid I haven't much talent, though," Melissa confided. "Dad used to want to teach me and Dennis (her 22-year-old brother) to dance, but we sort of laughed at him about it."

"And now she wants to learn more about it," Mr. Murphy added.

"Dad's still a wonderful dancer—and a good teacher," Miss Murphy declared.

George, however, doesn't take to the dance floor as often as he once did. As a busy executive of Desilu Studios, he finds it "kinda hard to dance sitting at a desk."

REAL HOME

Melissa attends school in Palm Springs, where the Murphys have a house, although they consider Los Angeles their real home. While she has many friends among the young people of the movie colony, including sons and daughters of famous producers and directors, Melissa's closest chums have no connection with the industry.

DAUGHTER OF HOLLYWOOD "AMBASSADOR"
Miss Melissa Murphy and Father, George

"Our crowd," she related, "likes to do the same kind of things young people anywhere else enjoy. The moral standards among Hollywood youth are just as high as anywhere else in America. It just seems that when someone connected with the movies makes a mistake or gets into any kind of trouble, it's advertised all over the country."

Melissa declared she never noticed any danger of being spoiled by her parents.

"I still have an allowance of $5 a week," she continued. "I've known what it is to be broke, too."

Melissa and her mother usually agree on style and color when they're shopping for the teen-ager's wardrobe.

"Our tastes are pretty much alike," Miss Murphy declared. "About the only time Mother criticizes the way I dress is during the summer. I spend a lot of time at the beach, dressed in "sweat shirt and bathing suit.

"Then Mother tells me I look like a beach bum."

5 Years To Cook

DEAR GEORGE:

With all this pre-packaged stuff at the super markets how long do you think it will be before American women forget completely how to cook?

HANK.

DEAR HANK:

I would have said five years, except for a fad sweeping my neighborhood. One housewife found a yellowed document in her mother's attic called "a recipe" for apple pie. "YOU MAKE IT YOURSELF!" she cried. The young ladies are finding it fun to search out things like real apples, flour (whatever that is) and so on. This may spread, so don't give up.

DEAR GEORGE:

Are real people supposed to write to you or do you make up the letters? P.S.: Excuse notebook paper and pencil.

NOSEY.

DEAR NOSEY:

I make up the letters. That's all right about the notebook paper and pencil.

---And He Almost Did Not Get In!

By KATHRYN GRAYBURN

ALFRED KENNEDY, whose wife is co-chairman of the the Centennial Ball, almost missed the ball! Mrs. Kennedy had already entered the Biltmore Exhibition Hall to attend to last minute details. She forgot to give him his ticket.

Elegantly clad in a Confederate officers' uniform, Mr. Kennedy had a difficult time explaining to the alert doorman why he should be admitted sans ticket!

SOUTHERN DISCOMFORT: A lovely lady wearing a handsome ante-bellum ball gown decided her husband had danced with glamorous Olivia de Havilland long enough and broke on him.

MYSTERY: Who was the tall brunette lady Harvey Hester was jitterbugging with?

What They Wore

THE ANNIVERSARY PREMIERE of "Gone With the Wind" was notable for its collection of designer original gowns.

VIVIEN LEIGH wore bouffant white satin, bejewelled with emeralds in a green sprig design. Designed by Walter Plunkett, who created the wardrobe for "GWTW", her gown was a modern adaptation of the "green sprig muslin" worn by Scarlett to the barbecue.

OLIVIA de HAVILLAND chose for the auspicious occasion a bouffant white faille skirt embroidered all over and topped with a green chiffon bodice.

Vivien Leigh

Olivia de Havilland

VISITORS. Mrs. Raymond King of Valdosta formerly of Atlanta, offset her blondness in a black model accented with white lace. . . . Mrs. Frank Bean of Gainesville, Fla., wore a bouffant floral print.

Atlantans' Ball Gowns

ATLANTANS GLIMPSED: Mrs. R. Emmett Mitchell handsomely gowned in blue lace sprinkled with sequins and rhinestones. . . . Mrs. Vol T. Blacknall, in black Italian knit with an emerald green satin coat trimmed with white fox, wore her fabulous necklace of champagne diamonds. . . . Mrs. Valerie Foster, gowned in an ensemble of white brocade, accompanied her daughter, Victoria, who wore black taffeta topped with a pleated white silk bodice. . . . Mrs. Howell Ross Hanson and her sister, Mrs. Oda T. Sperl, both wore Dior originals. Mrs. Hanson was gowned in crimson satin, while Mrs. Sperl wore sapphire blue. . . . Mrs. Richard Patrick was attired in blue silk organza. . . . Authoress Olive Bell Davis arrived in a gold and silver brocaded evening coat worn over a flame colored dress.

WHEN MRS. FLORENCE CLIFT HORTON arrived wearing a full-length white ermine coat and two flashing diamond bracelets, she was approached in the Biltmore Hotel lobby by two pre-teens, who timidly inquired, "Are those REAL diamonds?"

He Isn't Irish

"The name is Selznick", explained the GWTW producer to the lady who repeatedly addressed him as "Mr. O'Selznick."

STARRY-EYED OCCUPANTS of the first row at the Premiere were Debbie Ware and her visitors, Marilyn Jensen and Penny Lunnon of Coral Gables and Ft. Lauderdale. The girls had an unscheduled holiday Friday from Florida State University, where they are students.

Since Debbie had never seen GWTW, she was thrilled over the sudden opportunity. Her roommate, Betty Hemrick, and her visitors shared the first row.

Betty's visitors were Michael Meyers of Long Boat Key, Fla., and Faye Harvard of Columbia, S.C. Mrs. Marion D. Ware, Debbie's mother, entertained for the girls Friday.

A GUEST who wore a spray of artificial flowers at her decolletage was asked if they were real. Not realizing the question referred to the flowers, she replied with spirit, "They certainly are!"

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR who arrives by plane today from Geneva, Switzerland, will be Princess Isabel Pignatelli d' Aragon, who comes for a month as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ruth Waters, at the Georgian Terrace Hotel. Mrs. Waters will entertain March 18 at an elaborate cocktail party on the hotel mezzanine.

List Edges Ahead In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market boiled with volume at 5.95 million shares and prices mixed. Market statistics were a shade on the upside.

Profits were taken on huge gains, with the result that some recent favorites dropped several points. Some new traders' pets came to the fore.

Alleghany Corp. common, up ¼, was far and away the volume leader as peace talks between management and the Murchison brothers collapsed and the threat of a proxy fight was renewed. Together with the preferred stock, up 1½, Alleghany came close to accounting for 10 per cent of total turnover.

Large public participation, both on the buy and sell side, continued the hallmark of the market. The accent still remained on lower-priced and more speculative issues.

The market wheelhorses moved sedately as a general rule and went nowhere in particular except for rails, which nudged ahead on balance along with utilities. The trend was mildly lower among steels, motors, oils, tobaccos and aircraft-missiles.

American Stock Exchange prices were irregular. Alleghany warrants reflected heavy dealings in the common stock of the Big Board, closing unchanged at 9⅜.

Corporate bonds were mixed in heavy trading. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

Cotton Rises All Around

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 10 to 40 cents a bale higher. Support came through commission house buying.

Prospects that the higher government loan will raise raw cotton prices next season stimulated interest in new crop months. Gains at one time extended to 75 cents a bale, with all deliveries except nearby March making new highs for the season. Toward the close, prices receded partially. There were no March delivery notices issued at New York.

'BUSINESS LAB'
HELPS JOE'S
SCHOOL WORK

IN SCHOOL, Joe had always liked his lab courses. Naturally he listens to the teacher's lectures, but what he enjoys most is learning for himself by doing. Now that he has become a newspaperboy, he has discovered another good "lab course."

HAVING a business of his own — which requires the keeping of accounts, and the banking of profits — has been of practical help in math. His ability to meet and talk with people has made him the top public speaker in his classes.

WHAT'S more, through this "business lab" he has learned so well the importance of being punctual that he wasn't tardy for a single class last year.

9 ft. x 5 ft. load space —on the level

A Volkswagen Pick-up Truck has a 45-square foot flat bed completely level and unobstructed. It carries 1,764 lbs.

With sides lowered, it's a platform truck. Raise them and you have a true pick-up. Add a fitted tarpaulin with bows (optional) and you have a 161-cubic-foot covered van. Either way, you also have space in a weather-tight, 23-cubic-foot locker between the axles.

The VW Pick-up costs about half as much to run as most ½-ton pick-ups. Don't take our word for this. See what VW owners report in the free 60-page illustrated book, "The Owner's Viewpoint." Come in for a copy.
